PATH CLEARED FOR TRIAL OF $206,000 SUIT

Galion Bank Receiver's Suit Against Directors May Reach Court in December.

TWO ACTIONS SETTLED

Appeal of Mary Volk, Author of Petition, Not Yet Decided by Court.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1—With the settlement of two receiver's suits to collect the surety bonds of the president and cashier, legal barriers holding up trial of the $206,000 recovery suit against eight directors of the Citizens' National bank of Galion, O., have been removed and the case may reach the courtroom this December, it was learned today.

Judge Paul Jones ordered that progress in the case would have to await disposition of the two suits brought by A. E. Evensen against the National Surety company on the bonds of J. Earl Casey, convicted former president of the bank, and Mary Volk, cashier. Settlement of these two matters for a total of $35,000 was announced by Evensen recently.

Negligence Charged

Evensen's suit against the directors asks for recovery of $200,000 which was claimed to have been lost by the bank and its stockholders and depositors due to the alleged "negligence and mishandling of funds by Casey with the consent of the others."

The next term of court for equity cases will be this December. Federal court attaches have announced the case will be on the equity call list which is sent out in November and from which the trial docket is made up.

It is entirely possible, it was revealed, that the suit, already on file more than a year, may be delayed still longer with the request by counsel for some principal that the case not be tried at the last term of court.

The appeal of Mary Volk, who originally filed the action, as a stockholder, to the federal court of appeals at Cincinnati from the court order here removing her as plaintiff in the suit and making Evensen author of the action, still remains to be disposed of. This will not necessarily affect the date of the trial, it was pointed out.

Answers Not Filed

Most of the defendants, including Casey, who is now serving a nine-year term at Atlanta penitentiary: Gilbert L. Stiefel, Frank W. Faber, Ernest F. Klopp, H. J. Bachelder, L. M. Liggett, Herman H. Hartman and Henry Eschborn, have yet to file their answers to the action.

The court set Sept. 28, 1931, as the last day for filing answers but any defendant is permitted at any time to ask and obtain permission to file an answer late. Of course, if some answers are not filed by the time the case goes to trial, default judgments could be ordered against the defendants not answering.

Since the removal of Miss Volk from the case, there has been one other change in the personnel of the suit. Judge Samuel H. West dismissed Henry Gottdiener of Cleveland as a defendant in the case last January on Gottdiener's motion, Evensen made Gottdiener a co-defendant in the action which he became plaintiff.

TRIAL OF MASCHKE IS CARRIED OVER

Attorney Finds Evidence Offered on Wage Shortage.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1—Startling evidence of wage shortages in the Cuyahoga county treasury was studied today by attorneys in the Maurice Maschke embezzlement trial, in adjournment for the week-end.

Maschke, Cleveland Republican leader, and four others are on trial, charged with aiding and abetting Alex Bernstein, former deputy county treasurer, in an embezzlement of $177,000.

Oswell M. Smith, certified public accountant, hired by Treasurer L. G. Collister to investigate the shortages, testified yesterday that on Aug. 12, 13 and 14 of 1931, there was a treasury deficit of $1,900,000.

The actual shortage at the present time, Smith estimated at close of $800,000. The state will resume examination of its witnesses Monday when State Examiner Justin R. Main will be called to the stand.

SIX INJURED WHEN 1,000 ATTACK MINERS

By The Associated Press

CANTON, Ill., Oct. 1 — Six men were injured today when a crowd estimated at 1,000 attacked miners as they attempted to go to work in the Clearview and Packerview coal mines, among the largest in the Fulton county independent field. State police and deputy sheriffs were rushed to the scene. Several shots were fired.

5,000 CALLED BACK TO WORK

Steel Mills in Pittsburgh District Will Reopen Next Week.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1—Hundreds of dark, dreary homes in western Pennsylvania radiated with happiness today as jobs were provided for more than 5,000 persons after months of idleness.

The national works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Co. at Monessen will reopen Monday on a three to four-day-a-week basis, re-employing 1,200 men and women. Other departments in the mill are scheduled to resume operation in about 10 days, giving work to 1,000 more employes.

Nearly 400 men have returned to work in four mills of the Lockhart Iron & Steel Co. in Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad recalled 400 men in its locomotive and car shops. More than 150 laborers were put back to work in the carrier's freight car shop.

The Union Railroad Co. notified 130 shopmen to report at Monongahela Junction Oct. 10 for part time work.

Officials of the Standard Tin Plate Co. announced its Canonsburg plant will reopen Monday. They said 2,000 persons are affected.

HAMILTON, O., Oct. 1—Officials of the Ford Motor Co. plant here have announced that the factory will resume operations next week. A schedule of three or more days weekly will be maintained for the present, it was said.

GAS CO. EXECUTIVES HOLD MEETING HERE

Conference and Luncheon Is Held at Marion Country Club.

E. M. Tharp of Columbus, vice president of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., and E. D. Rivers of Columbus, executive assistant treasurer of the company, were among officials to attend the monthly company conference at the Marion Country club yesterday.

Others attending the meeting were C. W. Wallace of Toledo, vice president of the Northwestern Gas Co., E. D. Abbott of Springfield, vice president of the Springfield Gas Co., and F. R. Miller of the Indiana Gas Distributing Co. The meeting, it was announced by C. F. Brenner, local manager, was attended by 62, including 13 district managers and department heads.

The meeting opened at noon with a luncheon at which Lawrence Weber of Elyria was the principal speaker. Guests at the luncheon included Mayor W. C. Phillips, J. E. Messenger, president of council, W. D. Brown, manager of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, and George Whynell, manager of the Marion Water Co.

The afternoon program was given to a conference which was followed by a golf tournament.

Party Leaders of State and Nation Scheduled for Talks.

C. F. COE IS ON LIST

White, Ingalls and Fess To Throw Campaign in Full Swing.

Marion will move into the spotlight of important campaign activities next week when state and nationally prominent candidates and speakers appear here in a busy schedule of meetings.

David S. Ingalls and Governor George White, candidates for governor, United States Senator Simeon D. Fess and Charles Francis Coe, nationally known writer and radio speaker, are scheduled to take part in an imposing array of political meetings during the week.

Coe, well-known magazine writer who shared the microphone with Graham McNamee in broadcasting details of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight in New York City last summer, is the latest addition to the list of political dignitaries slated to speak here. Announcement was made today that he would appear with Ingalls in a Republican rally in the Eagles temple and at a banquet of the Ohio State Grotto association convention Thursday night.

White had Fess Coming

Governor White is expected to address a Democratic meeting on Friday night following a Grotto convention banquet at which he will speak. Senator Fess will speak Tuesday night at an Eighth district banquet in Hotel Harding sponsored by the Republican men's and women's clubs.

A new and novel method of campaigning will be introduced in Marion county when a sound car dispatched from the speakers' bureau of the Republican National committee appears here Oct. 14. This car is equipped to amplify voices of speakers who will accompany the car and to reproduce recorded messages of nationally prominent speakers.

Both Eighth district congressional candidates will be active next week. Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr., Republican, will speak Wednesday in Findlay. Thursday noon in Mt. Gilead and Thursday night at the Grotto banquet at which Ingalls and Coe will speak. Brooks Fletcher, Democratic candidate for congress, will give a series of speeches in Morrow county during the week.

Monday night will find the Democratic club in session in the party's headquarters, while the Republican Young Women's club is meeting in Republican headquarters to lay plans for its future activities.

Headquarters To Open

The Younger Voters association of the Democratic club will meet Tuesday night to further its membership drive and to meet with prospective members from every corner of the county.

Democratic headquarters, hitherto opened only for prearranged meetings and activities, will be open daily beginning today, it was announced this morning. The hours will be 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., 1 p. m. to 5 p. m., and 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Coe and Ingalls are slated to speak Monday night at a Republican rally in Marysville in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. They are also booked to speak in Mt. Gilead Thursday noon.

FINANCE GROUP TO GIVE FARMER AID

Moves To Prevent Loss of Farms on Foreclosures.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—The American farmer had been assured today that the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. would be used, through various established agencies, to "help the farmer keep his farm."

The assurances were given at the conclusion of a conference held here yesterday at the suggestion of President Hoover.

Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, chairman of the conference, attended by representatives of governmental groups and private organizations, said, after the meeting had adjourned:

"The result is that the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. is to be thrown back of the agencies which lend money and receive farm mortgages, the policy of these united groups will be to help the farmer keep his farm."

VOTERS QUALIFYING FOR FALL ELECTION

Persons Not Eligible To Cast Ballot Are Registering at Rate of 25 a Day.

Registrations qualifying Marion citizens to vote at the Nov. 8 election are being made in the office of the board of elections at the rate of approximately 25 a day, C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board, said today.

With the registration deadline only 18 days away, this number is expected to gradually increase, he said. Despite this tendency to register early, there undoubtedly will be a long waiting line on Oct. 18, the final date, he said.

Political Workers Active

The activity of political workers who have been urging prospective voters of their respective parties to qualify as voters for the coming election has been a factor contributing to the "register early" movement.

Transfers of registrations in cases where persons have changed their residence since last registering also are being made daily in the election board headquarters.

Between 700 and 800 persons have registered this year, and probably a third of that number have transferred their registrations, Ritzler said.

No General Registration

Election board activities have been somewhat lightened by the fact that 1932 has brought the first presidential election in Ohio in which a general registration is not required. Persons required to register include persons who reached the voting age since the last election and who have not yet registered, those whose names have been changed by marriage, and persons who have failed to cast a ballot at the last two elections. Failure to vote at two consecutive November elections disqualifies a voter unless he or she reregisters, Ritzler explained.

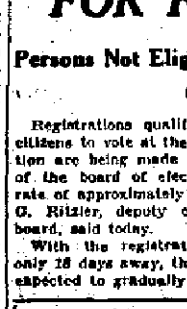
WATCH FOR EXTRA ON SERIES GAME

The complete play-by-play account of today's World series contest in Chicago will appear in The Star's sports extra late this afternoon. In addition to the Cub-Yank battle, the extra also will carry a story on the battle of Harding's Presidents at Delaware. Both games are slated to start at 2:30 p. m., Marion time.

WELCOME FOR ALL AT STAR'S SCHOOL

Mrs. Campbell Will Have Message of Interest for Women in All Positions.

One bride asked if she could bring her husband to The Marion Star's cooking school which will open Tuesday afternoon in The Star auditorium. "I want him to see the model kitchen so we can eventually have one like it," she wrote.



Another woman wrote: "I have to do without a maid this year, and it's like starting housekeeping all over again. Do you really think I'll learn anything at your cooking school?"

A busy young mother wrote: "I haven't much time to spend on fancy cooking but I do want nourishing dishes which taste good and look delicious. And they mustn't cost much. Please tell Mrs. Ruth Campbell to have that kind in one day's session."

Of course, the bride may bring her husband. And he will be invited, too.

VIRGINIA VAN VIE TAKES GOLF LEAD

By The Associated Press

PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 1—A par shattering round of 69, the first made in the 36th women's national tourney, gave Virginia Van Vie of Chicago an eight-hole lead on Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, the five times winner, today after the first round of their 36-hole championship match on the Salem country club's 6,301 yard layout.

OHIO INVENTOR DIES

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., Oct. 1—William A. Sunaly, 72, inventor of an improved kiln, died yesterday. His invention was said to have made possible the use of bricks on high ways.

OFFICERS NAMED AT DISTRICT MEET HERE

Mt. Vernon Named for 1933 Session of Disciples of Christ.

Rev. Roy Wolford of Shreve was elected president of District No. 8 of the Disciples of Christ in Ohio at a one-day district meeting here yesterday at Central Christian church. The total registration for the day and night sessions reached 317. Mt. Vernon was chosen as the place for the 1933 convention.

Other officers elected yesterday afternoon were Rev. A. C. Mattern of Fredericksburg, vice president; Rev. Turner Holt of Shenandoah, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Leon Zeiloft of Mt. Vernon, women's secretary.

The afternoon session and the youth's dinner last night were given over to addresses and discussions on the general theme of the meeting, "Christian Folks and Forces at Work."

Approximately 125 attended the young people's banquet last night at which Rev. Raymond F. McLain, state director of religious education, and Rev. James O. Dodd, pastor of Central church, gave the main addresses.

A forum was conducted in the afternoon by Rev. Gaines M. Cook, secretary of the Ohio Christian Missionary society, on "Making the State Society More Effective," in which the establishment of new churches and ways in which to aid the present pastors and the church location problem, were discussed.

The problem of unemployment among many ministers today was laid to the fact that many churches release the pastors because they do not feel able to support them.

As a means of combatting this

WHITE BILLS PASSED WITH LITTLE CHANGE

Agreement on Salary Reduction Reached After Lively Arguments.

LONG NIGHT SESSION HELD

Saving of $2,050,000 Yearly Estimated from Pay Slashes.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1—Ohio's third special session of the 89th general assembly ended a four-day session, early today, after adopting a program of legislation proposed by Governor George White to effect governmental economies and provide relief for individuals, financial institutions and political subdivisions.

All the relief legislation contained in seven bills was enacted into law virtually as presented by the chief executive with only minor differences developing between the two branches. The economy bills, three in number and proposing salary reductions for public officials and employes, resulted in spirited fights between the two houses, and one of them almost resulted in the session extending over into next week.

Several plans for making the contemplated salary cuts were proposed. The one finally adopted and applied to all state officials and employes, county elective officers and county election board members and office employes, provides for a cut of 5 per cent on the first $1,000; 10 per cent on the second $1,000; 12½ per cent on the third $1,000; 15 per cent on the fourth $1,000; 17½ per cent on the fifth $1,000, and 20 per cent on all above $5,000.

Approved by Governor

The governor had proposed a cutting scale of 5 per cent on the first $5,000; 10 per cent on the next $5,000 and 15 per cent on all over $10,000. The executive's advisers, however, said the schedule adopted was satisfactory to the governor.

The total amount saved by the cuts, which are to become effective next Jan. 1, and continue for two years, was estimated by Senator Robert Hahn, Republican, of the 6th, chairman of the senate finance committee, at $1,750,000 on state officers and employes' salaries; $175,000 on county elective officials, and $180,000 on county election board members, clerks and office employes. The estimated total for all three bills was $2,050,000 a year.

All three salary cut bills had to be sent to conference committees to adjust the differences between the two houses on salary schedules. Those affecting the county offices and election boards were first to be adjusted.

The state salary cut bill was adjusted as to basis of cuts and promptly accepted by the house, but the senate balked for almost an hour on accepting the confer-

U. S. EXPORTS SHOW INCREASE IN REPORT

Foreign Buying of Cotton, Wheat, Petroleum Top Improvement.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Foreign purchases of cotton, wheat and petroleum, described as "extraordinarily large," today topped improvement in America's 1932 export trade cited in figures of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The report compared the first six months of this year with the corresponding 1931 period and said:

"Twenty-four principal exports out of 30 were shipped abroad in larger quantities in that period than in the same half of last year. * * *

"The prices of many exports were the lowest in years, which accounted to a large extent for the small total value of our exports, $941,977,000, 36 per cent lower than last year. * * *

"Despite this heavy loss, the United States still maintains her rank as the leading export nation."

The half-year cotton, wheat and petroleum shipments were said by the chamber to have exceeded both 1931's corresponding figures and five-year averages.

WRIGLEY FIELD, CHICAGO, Oct. 1—The blazing sun of a perfect fall day, a clear blue, cloud flecked sky and just breeze enough to fan excited brows, warmed and thrilled 18,000 early patrons rushing into bleacher seats today for the third game of the world series.

It was a lively picture, and a strange contrast to the blase indifference of New Yorkers who failed to rally in capacity numbers for the first two games.

In order to avoid the capacity of one of the finest baseball establishments in the National league to slightly above 21,000, temporary bleachers had been built beyond the walls of the park, extending over Sheffield avenue on the right field side and Waveland avenue on the left field quarter.

Undismayed by the double defeat of the beloved warriors of Charley Grimm, the Brain faithful started through the gates toward the temporary seats as soon as tickets went on sale at 8:30 a. m. and by 11 a. m., cheering and shouting as though the Cubs were just beginning their assault, the stadium had all but filled the temporary stands, making it on the field. Those seats held 9,000 persons.

High Divers

(Will Rogers Syndicate)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 1—Coast papers are all excited because "Japan has bought more automobiles in the last month than in years," "gas cutter" situates, and scrap iron."

Why worry about a little thing like that?

Not satisfied by making torpedoes out of us in submarining, they hired our best diver after the Olympics, and in the next games may beat us in that.

But here is one thing they didn't reckon on. Our high diving is inherited from our politicians. Our public men do nothing but high dive. They climb up the ladder on promises, just before election, then dive off after they are elected.

No sir! Japan, you got a lot of diving to learn to catch us. Yours,

Presbyterian Church Scene of Pohler, Young Wedding Today

A LOVELY wedding of early autumn was solemnized this morning in the First Presbyterian church when Miss AnaBeth Pohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pohler of 259 South Seffner avenue became the bride of Leonard Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Young of 369 South Prospect street. Open church was observed for the single ring ceremony which was read at 9:30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, in the presence of a large number of relatives and close friends of the bride and bridegroom.

An organ program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony by Mrs. T. Williams as the guests were being seated and she accompanied Mrs. R. L. Wallace, contralto, who sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Williams' recital included Prelude to the Third Act of "Lohengrin," Wagner, "Indian Love Call," "Song of Love" from "Blossom Time," "Because," D'Hardelot, "Liebestraum," Liszt, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Oh, Promise Me." As the bridal party entered the church she played "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" and during the ceremony Nevin's "Venetian Love Song" and "Love's Old Sweet Song." Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the party left the altar for the church parlors where an informal reception was held.

Dressed in Ivory Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin made with a high waistline, long sleeves and finished with a cowl neckline. The long full skirt fell in an even hemline and her slippers were in an ivory tone. Her small close-fitting turban was of ivory chiffon velvet and she carried a white kid Bible showered with lilies of the valley and ribbon.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Virginia Bachman. She was dressed in a gown of Burgundy crepe fashioned on long lines similar to that worn by the bride and her turban was of chiffon velvet in the same shade. Her gloves and slippers were in harmonizing shades and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Henry Mickley was Mr. Young's best man and the ushers were the bride's brothers, William H. Pohler Jr. and Milton F. Pohler.

Flowers in pastel shades decorated the tables at the wedding breakfast served at the Marion City club following the ceremony. Covers were placed for 40 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Young left on a short wedding trip and upon their return will make their home here. The bride wore for traveling a suit in a rust shade with accessories in brown.

Active in Sorority

Mrs. Young is a graduate of Harding High school and is an active member of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority. She has been complimented with a number of charming pre-nuptial social affairs since the announcement of her approaching marriage.

Mr. Young is a graduate of Harding High school, class of 1925, and attended Oberlin college. He is affiliated with the Kiwanis club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce and is manager of the Marion Paint company store here.

Guests from out of the city here for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sheets and daughter Mary Gertrude of Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Fred B. Houck of Huntington, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Westphal of Columbus, Mrs. H. H. Sears of Harpster, Mrs. C. C. Stoltz and Miss Kate Gaist of Greenville.

Epworth M. E. Pastor Reads Wedding Service

The marriage of Miss Edna Rodgers and Carson B. Shetterly was solemnized this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Epworth M. E. church with the pastor, Dr. C. E. Turley, reading the single ring service. They were unattended. The bride's gown was of bright blue velvet trimmed with angel skin lace and rhinestones. Her hat was of velvet in the same shade with rhinestone trimming. Her accessories were in blue and she wore black pumps trimmed in white kid. Her only jewelry was a cameo pin which belonged to her mother, the late Mrs. Alice J. Rodgers, and her flowers were an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill and Briar Cliff roses. Friends of the bride and bridegroom witnessed the ceremony.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Shetterly left on a wedding trip to the southern part of the state and will be at home at 215 Windsor street after Oct. 15. The bride's going away costume was a brown crepe suit with accessories to match. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shetterly are active in work at Epworth M. E. church and also are affiliated with a number of lodges in the city.

Schultz-Warner Wedding Last Night

Miss Olive Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Warner of near Morral, and Wilbur Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Schultz of 395 Cherry street, were married last night at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Justice of the Peace L. E. Neal of Morral.

The bride's mother, sisters and brother, Mrs. George Watts and and Foster Watts of Morral and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Little and son of Upper Sandusky were present.

A supper was served at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Schultz will make their home in Marion. Mr. Schultz operates the Vine Street market.

My Beauty Hint

BY MARGARET LINDSAY

GOOD teeth are of utmost importance from the standpoint of health—for beauty, they are vital. My beauty hint, therefore, has to do with their daily care.

I keep a supply of tooth brushes on hand, and never use one too long. I use a mouth wash frequently, and find that dental floss is as essential as a tooth brush.

One of the simplest aids in keeping the teeth in order is massage of the gums, I find. A soft tooth brush will serve for this.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Are Complimented at Housewarming

MR. AND MRS. EARL R. WILSON, who were recently married, were complimented with a housewarming last evening at their home at 297 Bellefontaine avenue. The affair was planned as a surprise and guests included 30 close friends. A picnic dinner was followed by cards and the evening was spent informally. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were presented a gift.

Just Things

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

Telling 'Em

SHE was a trim little trick from tip to toe and one could easily tell that very little escaped her bright eyes and alert mind. We agreed without being asked that the hosiery counter could hold no attraction for a little miss of about three and one-half summers, especially when the jewelry counter was all a-glitter just across the aisle. What every woman knows is that it is no small matter to select just the right shade of hose, especially in these days of dark tones and perhaps the grown-up did spend considerable time in making a selection. Finally, in just the politest tone of impatience this young miss announced in no low tones, "Mother, you're wasting all my time."

The Ill Wind

THE old wheeze about the ill wind still holds good if you ask us. No one seems surprised, and if they are they fail to let it show on the surface) at what happens in the next breath these days. Now all the little future McCormicks and Mary Gardens in the county schools will have a chance to do some of their tricks with vocal music being emphasized in the schools after sitting back for aeons while the bands strutted their stuff. The depression had a hand in it is our guess for it takes more than a couple of nickels to buy a big, fat drum or a nice shiny cornet or trombone. And as one interested bystander put it, "they're all born with vocal chords so why not use them."

Jackets

HUNDREDS of women are interested in club year books these days and we're telling you this year's crop is most attractive inside and out. Jackets interest us just heaps. Some are so shy and retiring, others just conservative and still others just startle and fascinate one with their bright coverings. There's one in this years garden the like of which we have never seen and we'll bet a whole merry-go-round that you didn't either. The front cover is just the cleverest and most colorful pastoral scene done in hand painting. There are hills a nice woody-looking fence, a most intriguing looking road that leads up into the hills, patches of blue posies and the cutest little sunbonneted girl picking herself a bouquet. And there's something quite worth while inside, too.

Prospect Club To Present Program for Federation

RILEY readings with "living pictures" will be presented by the All Arts club of Prospect at the first meeting of the season for members of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs Tuesday evening. The program will be given in the Marion City club in charge of Mrs. E. A. Gradwohl, Mrs. Ed Lauer and Mrs. Wilbur Siver.

Readings will include "The Prayer Perfect," "Her Beautiful Hand," "The Raggedy Man," "Old Granny Dusk," "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," "Little Orphan Annie," "Out to Old Aunt Mary's" and "The Name of Old Glory."

Readers will be Mrs. Edwin Adams, E. R. Smith and Miss Ruth Beery. Music will be contributed by the club trio composed of Mrs. Waldo Elliott, Mrs. Paul Kyle and Miss Pauline Wyatt, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. E. Woltring.

A new telephone line has been opened between Melbourne, Victoria, and Perth, Western Australia, as a link in a system that eventually will be more than 5,000 miles long.

Williams, McWherter Wedding Ceremony Read in New Home

DR. C. E. TURLEY, pastor of Epworth M. E. church read the double ring ceremony for the marriage of Miss Margaret Frances Williams and Earl McWherter which was solemnized this morning shortly after 10:30 o'clock. The service was read in the newly-furnished home of the bride and bridegroom at 120 Brenner court and was witnessed by members of the immediate families and close friends.

Palms and flowers in autumn shades decorated the rooms and adorned the table at which covers were laid for 16 at a wedding breakfast following the ceremony.

Maid of Honor

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Tracht of Galion as maid of honor and Maynard Smith acted as Mr. McWherter's best man. The bride was gowned in Taillour blue crepe fashioned on straight lines and trimmed in an eggshell shade. Her narrow-brimmed hat, gloves and a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and sweetpohilla Miss Tracht's gown was of crepe in a beetroot shade with which she wore a turban to the same tone. Her accessories were in brown and her flowers were a corsage of Briar Cliff roses.

Mr. and Mrs. McWherter will spend their honeymoon in the southern part of the state. For traveling Mrs. McWherter wore a frock of black and white crepe and satin with harmonizing accessories.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edna Williams of 520 Oney avenue. She is a graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1927 and affiliates with Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority. She is employed in the office of the American Hay & Grain Co. Mr. McWherter also graduated from Harding High school in 1927. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. McWherter of 510 North Prospect street and is associated with the Markert & Lewis cigar store. A number of delightful social affairs have been given this fall for Miss Williams in honor of her marriage.

Guests at Wedding

Guests at the wedding were Miss Tracht and Robert Shuppe of Galion, Harry Staley of Columbus, Mrs. Edna Williams, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McWherter, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bechtel, Mrs. Darrol Walker, Miss Verna Mae McWherter, Miss Lucile Valentine and Robert Williams.

South Side Community Group Starts Year's Activities

A movement to enroll all members of the South Side Parent-Teacher council in the state and national Parent-Teachers association was started at the opening meeting of the season at the Pearl street school building Friday afternoon. The South side council has been affiliated with the state and national organization as a unit, but under the new arrangement each member will be registered individually. The movement is a part of a membership campaign for the state and national associations.

Mrs. J. D. Oliphant, president of the council, was elected delegate to the state Parent-Teachers association convention at Columbus, Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

One hundred and fifty-six members were present for the opening meeting. An informal program included singing led by Mrs. Eugene Moore and a talk by the president, Mrs. Oliphant extending a welcome to new members. A social hour and lunch followed the meeting.

The next meeting will be Friday, Oct. 21.

Masonic Groups Meet

Marion Chapter of DeMolay and Marion Bethel No. 2, Job's Daughters held a wiener roast last night at the Otterbein church park at Newmans. About 60 members of the two Masonic groups were present. A DeMolay meeting will be held tonight at the Masonic temple. A meeting of the Job's Daughters is scheduled for Oct. 11.

Cooking School

AT THE

STAR AUDITORIUM

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Oct. 4, 5, 6 and 7

Many thousands of housewives have heard this Cooking School lecturer. They have learned from her new home-making methods, new recipes, new ideas. From her audiences and their home-keeping questions the lecturer has come into intimate contact with the family needs and the problems of the homes of America. She brings this wealth of experience to you next week in the Cooking School.

Free recipes given out at each session of the Cooking School include new cakes, puddings, salads and frozen deserts; new ways to cook low cost cuts of meat; better ways of preparing vegetables; the perfect method of making hot and cold beverages.

Mrs. Ruth Campbell

It costs you nothing. Just come early to get a good seat. Bring your pencil and notebook with you. Watch the lecturer while she mixes a delicious, fluffy, light cake; watch her prepare the roast to savory tenderness in the handsome range. Watch her while she makes fascinating and appetizing garnishes for a new salad.

The complicated responsibility of preparing three meals a day every day of the year can become irksome to any woman. The key-note of the Cooking School is to relieve the monotony of this daily task. Any woman attending this Cooking School and interested in making her home run more smoothly will enjoy this homemaking event.

A Public Address System

Cubs Pin Hopes On Root To Stop New York Yankees

BRUIN FOLLOWERS ARE UNDISMAYED BY FIRST TWO DEFEATS

Contest Will Settle Claim That Left-Handers Can't Hit Ball in Wrigley Field.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—The Chicago Cubs rose in their native haunts of Wrigley field today to face a fresh onslaught of the New York Yankees, as the World series moved into its second phase.

Undismayed by two crushing defeats of their beloved warriors in the opening conflict in New York, the worshipping faithful of the Bruin clan rallied to an all but hopeless cause. To add to the excitement, Franklin D. Roosevelt and his presidential campaign party were scheduled to view the show.

Every reserved seat in Wrigley field was sold, throngs waited in line for the early morning sale of 13,500 bleacher seats and 3,500 standing room tickets, and there was every indication that a crowd of 50,000 was the least to expect for the third battle of the series.

From every side came declarations, amounting almost to fighting challenges of a Cub revival, a desperate counter-attack that would sweep away the almost overwhelming advantage of the Yankees' opening conquests, and bring the series down to a bitter last ditch duel that the Bruins just could not lose.

The spearhead of that almost fantastic hope was the veteran side-arm fast-ball pitcher, Charlie Root, the nominee of Manager Charlie Grimm for box duty.

It was Root who might have been the hero of the opening game of the 1929 World series between the Cubs and the Athletics had he not happened to oppose a pitching wizard for a day, ancient Howard Ehmke.

Joe McCarthy had named the veteran, George Pipgras as his choice to carry on the masterful pitching performances of Charley Ruffing and Lefty Gomez, in the two New York engagements. Back in the glamorous days of the Yankee world series battles of 1926, 1927, and 1928, Pipgras won two post season battles and never has met defeat in world championship play.

Benefitted by an enforced day's rest as the two clubs sped westward aboard special trains, the Cubs were obviously heartened by the demonstration of loyalty and affection that waited them here.

Despondency at their double defeat, although they out-clouted the famed hitting Yankees, 19 hits to 18 in two games, faded before the encouraging clamor of 2,000 fans who milled about the LaSalle Street station, all trying at once to reach the warriors, pat them on the back, assure them everything was all right and that the tide would certainly turn today.

The Yankees, already possessors of a World series record for straight victories, now totaling 12, could see nothing ahead but another clean sweep, but there were physical problems to take into consideration.

Wrigley field, with short-sheved crowds in the left-center field bleachers on a warm day, always has been the bane of left handed hitters swinging against a right handed, side-arm pitcher such as Root.

Southpaw shooters claim that they can not follow the flight of the ball against that background. This situation has always been advanced as one of the reasons why Chicago lineups have been crowded with right hand hitters, rather than south-paw batters.

The effect on the Yankees, of course, would be little short of disastrous if things worked out as the Cubs predicted. Five of the first six men in the Yankee batting order swing from the left side of the plate.

The prospect of a warm day, although there was a threat of cloudiness, scarred the theory being put to a decisive test. From an impartial viewpoint it seemed that something, anyway, had to come to the aid of the Cubs, if the issue were to be prolonged beyond the week-end.

"A" STARS WHO GO TO WHITE SOX

With the transfer of three of his star performers of the 1929-1930-1931 championship era to the Chicago White Sox, in a strictly cash transaction, Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is following his usual custom of breaking up a great machine and beginning to build all over again. The three players who go to the White Sox are Jimmy Dykes (left), Mule Haas (top right) and Al Simmons (lower right). For years Simmons has been considered the best outfielder in the majors and in 1930 and 1931 he was batting champion of the American League. His acquisition by the Chicago team is considered the most important constructive move made by the White Sox since 1918 when it acquired Joe Jackson.

National League Batting Marks Show Improvement

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Batting in the National league showed a distinct improvement in 1932 over 1931, the final unofficial batting marks for the season which ended last week reveal. Nearly every one of the winning totals were higher than the "firsts" of a year ago But pitching performances also looked up.

Frank "Lefty" O'Doul of Brooklyn captured the batting championship with a .368 average. In 1931, a .349 mark gave Chick Hafey of St Louis the lead by a fraction of a point. O'Doul also led in singles with 158.

The highest marks in the various slugging departments were 154 runs by Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, 225 hits by Klein, and Bill Terry of New York, 43 doubles by Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, a new league record; 19 triples by Babe Herman of Cincinnati, 35 home runs by Klein and Mel Ott of New York and 141 runs batted in by Don Hurst of Philadelphia.

After leading through most of the season, Klein was tied or beaten at the end in everything but runs. Even his base stealing mark of 20 thefts was tied by Tony Piet of Pittsburgh.

Terry, who hit a terrific clip in the last few weeks, took second place among the leading "regulars" with a .349 average. Behind him came Klein, .346; P. Waner, .341; Hurst, .340; V. Davis, Philadelphia, and Orsatti, St. Louis, .337 L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .333, Traynor, Pittsburgh, .330; and Herman, Cincinnati, .326

The Phillies led in club batting at .292 and the Boston Braves in fielding, with a .975 mark.

In addition to Paul Waner's doubles, only one record was broken although several minor marks were tied. Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn smashed a mark by hitting five home runs as a pinch batsman.

Lonnie Warneke of the Chicago Cubs led the moundsmen with a record of 22 victories and six defeats for a .786 average, somewhat better than Paul Derringer's 18 and 8 mark of 1931 The St. Louis Cardinals' brilliant "freshman" pitcher, Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, was the year's strikeout king, fanning 191 rivals.

Athletics collected enough individual landslrships to stamp him as the most valuable batsman in his organization.

Semi-official figures give Alexander an average of .367 for 124 games, while Foxx amassed a mark of .364, in 154 contests. Foxx, however, batted in the most runs, scored the most runs, had the most home runs and the most total bases. His 58 homers left him just two short of Babe Ruth's major league record, but ahead of the mark of 54 for right handed swatters set by Hack Wilson of the 1930 Chicago Cubs.

He slugged in 169 runs, scored 151 himself, and his 213 hits were good for 438 bases.

Foxx's teammate, Al Simmons, led in hits with 216, and Heinie Manush of Washington had 214 Eric McNair, the young Philadelphia infielder, won the two-base hit crown with 46, while Joe Cronin of Washington, had 18 three-base hits for a leadership in stolen bases, Ben Chapman of the Yankees, repeated as champion, with 37.

Ranking behind Alexander and Foxx were the following regulars: Gehrig, New York, .349; Manush, Washington, 342; Ruth, New York, .341; Cramer, Philadelphia, .326; Simmons, Philadelphia, .323; Walker, Detroit, .323; Rice, Washington, .321; Combs, New York; Cronin, Washington, and R Ferrell, St Louis, .319.

In team batting the Athletics repeated as leader with .290, four points better than the champion Yankees, The Yanks, however, led in scoring with 1,002 runs. Washington held hostiles to the lowest total in scoring, allowing 716 runs.

Washington shaded the Athletics in team fielding by the merest fraction of a point, .97838 to .97857. Detroit, St. Louis and New York fielded for .968, Cleveland had .966, Boston .963, and Chicago White Sox wound up eighth with .957. The Sox however led the league in double plays with 168, while St. Louis turned in the only triple play of the campaign.

Johnny Allen, the Yank rookie, led the regular pitchers, winning 17 and losing four for a mark of .810. General Alvin Crowder, the veteran Washington righthander, won the most games, 26, but lost 13, while Bob Grove won 25 and lost 10; Vernon Gomez won 24, and lost seven; Wes Ferrel of Cleveland, won 23 and lost 13, making the fourth straight year in which he has won 20 games or more, and Monte Weaver of Washington, won 22 against 10 defeats.

Chatlie (Red) Ruffing of the Yankees, was the strikeout king, fanning 190 batsmen in 238 innings.

WITTENBERG LOSES NIGHT CONTEST TO JOHN CARROLL 7-6

Xavier Defeats Centre 7 to 0; Buckeye-Wesleyan Fray Today's Best.

By The Associated Press

Four games last night ushered in the present week-end of Ohio collegiate football. Seventeen additional games were on the schedule for Buckeye fans today.

Probably the outstanding contest last night was John Carroll's victory over Wittenberg, 7 to 6, the first time the Lutherans have been vanquished since 1930.

Centre college of Kentucky gave Xavier of Cincinnati a hard battle but lost 7 to 0.

The University of Dayton again displayed great scoring strength by defeating Adrian, Mich., 64 to 0 Gorry, right halfback, scored 25 points in 30 minutes, and Dayton fans began hailing the team as one of the greatest in the school's history.

Ohio State's reserves nosed out Muskingum 2 to 0 by blocking a kick behind the Muskies goal line.

Topping today's program was the Ohio State-Wesleyan battle at Columbus, with State picked by the experts to win by possibly two or three touchdowns.

Ohio university will play Indiana on the latter's field, and Miami traveled to tackle Illinois, with the Hoosiers and the Illini favored to win the respective encounters.

Other games today included Denison at Western Reserve, Case at Colgate, Georgetown at Cincinnati, Bowling Green at Mt. Union, Marietta at Bethany, W. Va., Capital at Toledo, Wooster at Ashland, Otterbein at Oberlin, Bluffton at Ohio Northern, Rio Grande at Cedarville, Findlay at Heidelberg, Hiram at Kent and West Kentucky Industrial at Wilberforce.

Mrs. Vare and Miss Van Wie To Battle for Golf Title Third Consecutive Year

By The Associated Press

PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 1—For the third consecutive even year, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia and Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, two of America's most consistent golfers, have beaten off the pack to gain the final round of the women's national golf championship.

They were ready to start on the 36-hole title match at 10 a. m., (Marion time) over the Salem Country club course.

This pair of stars have clashed so many times in the past that neither can remember the exact number. All but a very few of them have been won by Mrs. Vare, who will gain her sixth championship in 10 years if she is successful today.

Mrs Vare gained her seventh final round yesterday by ousting Ada MacKenzie, former Canadian champion, by 5 and 4.

Miss Van Wie defeated Charlotte Glutting, popular 22-year-older from Short Hills, N. J., by 4 and 3.

EASTERN FOOTBALL TEAMS OPEN SEASON

Most Contests for Big Elevens To Be Warm-Up Affairs.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—The old guard of eastern football moved into action for the 1932 season today on their traditional opening date, the first Saturday of October.

The old "big three"—Yale, Harvard and Princeton—the service schools, Army and Navy, and a host of other outstanding colleges in the gridiron lists, among them Pennsylvania, Fordham, New York university, Carnegie Tech, West Virginia, Holy Cross and Georgetown, held their official openings. The handful of big colleges which started a week ago continued for the most part against typical early season opposition.

A pair of intersectional games for Army and Navy furnished a couple of high spots.

Army faced Furman, while Navy met one of its nearer southern neighbors, William and Mary.

Princeton squared off against Amherst, the only team the Tigers could beat last year Yale and Harvard expected little trouble meeting Bates and the University of Buffalo respectively.

Another southern team, South Carolina's gamecocks, was to play Villanova. Pittsburgh faced man sized opposition in its old rival, West Virginia.

Colgate also took on an intersectional opponent, playing Case at Cleveland

Pennsylvania opened as usual against Franklin and Marshall; N. Y. U. sent with little Hobart; Carnegie opened against Geneva and Georgetown took on Mt. St. Mary Columbia played Lehigh, Cornell met Niagara, Dartmouth faced Vermont and Syracuse played St. Lawrence at night.

Other games on the program included Holy Cross-Providence, Fordham-Baltimore, Brown-Rhode Island, Penn State-Lebanon Valley, Boston College-Loyola (Baltimore), Lafayette - Muhlenberg, Rutgers-Penn Military, and Washington and Jefferson-West Virginia Wesleyan.

ROBIN REED

BOBBY NOVACK

Headlining Monday night's mat engagement at the Steam Shovel gym will be Robin Reed and Bobby Novack. Reed is threatened with a great battle because of Novack's ability with the hook scissors.

WINS TITLE

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1—Portland cinched the 1932 Pacific coast league pennant just two days before the end of the season, by defeating Seattle last night, 11 to 10. The championship is the first for Portland in 15 years.

OLDER TRACK KINGS ENTERED IN FEATURE

Twenty Grand and Equipoise Among 19 Horses Slated To Run.

By The Associated Press

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Oct. 1 The twenty-first running of the $20,000 added Havre de Grace handicap today was a battle of the great, with most of the older kings and contenders of the track entered for the mile and sixteenth.

Equipoise, Twenty-Grand, Mate, Plucky Play, Jack High, Dark Secret and Her Grace put the color to the entry list of 19 three-year olds and up, some of which were in other races on the day's program.

The renewal of the hostilities after a lapse of 16 months between Cornelius V. Whitney's Equipoise and Twenty Grand from Mrs Payne Whitney's Greentree stable overcast the classy array.

The Havre de Grace handicap of 1:50, held jointly by Cudgel and Crusader, was endangered as Equipoise holds the competitive mile record of 1:34 2-5, less than a second faster than the former record of Jack High.

Others named for the track valedictory were White Clover, Osculator, Rehoboth, Reveille Boy, Mad Frump, Late Date, Clock Tower, Gallant Sir, Trod Avon, Charleigh, St. Brideaux and Helsanthus.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS SECOND IN SERIES

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 1—With the baseball teams of Newark and Minneapolis enroute to the Millers' home city today it looked to the fans who were left behind as though southpaw pitching may give the little world series to the American Association champions.

Although given extraordinary hurling themselves, the Bears trailed their foes, one game to two today as the result of losing two straight contests to left handers. Dutch Henry was the winner in a 10-inning 2 to 1 classic yesterday.

WRESTLING RESULTS

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — George Zaharias, 240, Pueblo, Colo., threw Rudy Dusek, 210, Omaha, 27:45.

BOSTON—Gus Sonnenberg, 210, Providence, won two falls out of three from Jack Washburn, 230, Los Angeles.

THREE GAMES WILL BE PLAYED SUNDAY AT LINCOLN PARK

Baseball Tournament Continues; Two Marion Teams Will Clash.

Three games are scheduled at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon in the Marion county amateur baseball tournament.

Opening the battles for supremacy in the county baseball circles will be the contest between the Haughn Barbers and Merchant Grays, both teams from Marion. It will start at 12 o'clock noon.

The teams from the rural districts of the county will clash in the second battle. The Caledonia Indians will be bidding for the championship honors with Green Camp

The final contest will be a clash between the city and county The winners of the two earlier games will battle for the honors of Sunday's session

An unusually large crowd is expected to attend the games The tournament will end the Marion baseball season when the interest of sports fans will turn to the gridiron sport.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

By The Associated Press

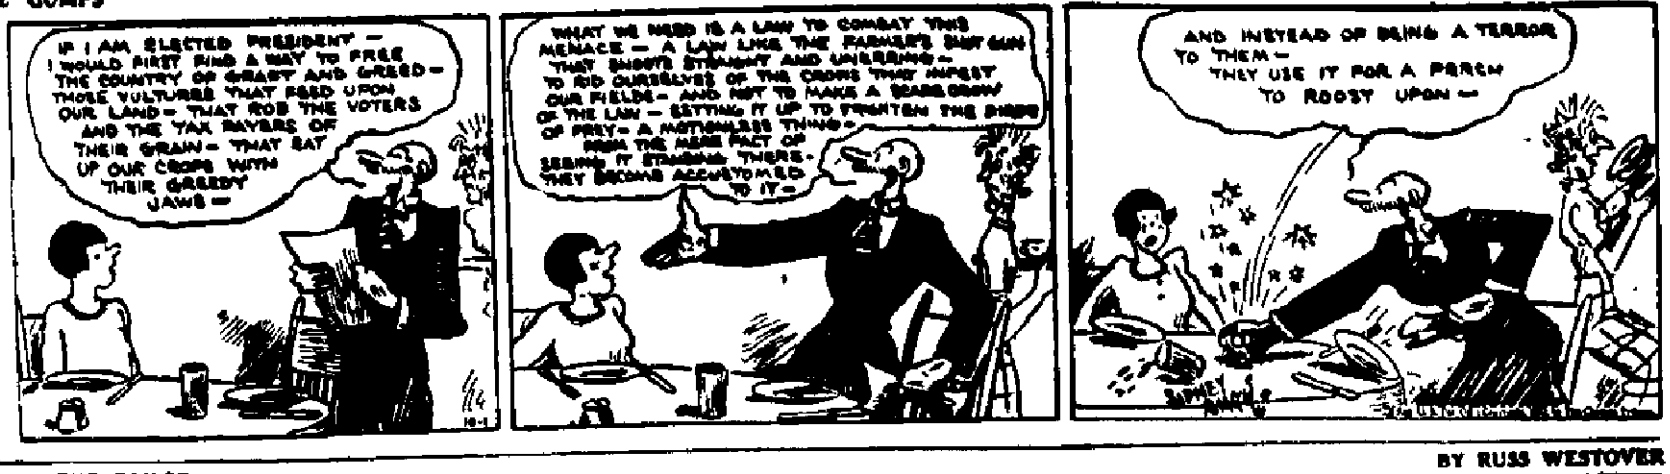
THE GUMPS



IF I AM ELECTED PRESIDENT — I WOULD FIRST FIND A WAY TO FREE THE COUNTRY OF GRAFT AND GREED — THOSE VULTURES THAT FEED UPON OUR LAND — THAT ROB THE VOTERS AND THE TAX PAYERS OF THEIR GRAIN — THAT EAT UP OUR CROPS WITH THEIR GREEDY JAWS —
WHAT WE NEED IS A LAW TO COMBAT THIS MENACE — A LAW LIKE THE FARMER'S SHOTGUN THAT SHOOTS STRAIGHT AND UNERRING — TO RID OURSELVES OF THE CROWS THAT INFEST OUR FIELDS — AND NOT TO MAKE A SCARECROW OF THE LAW — SETTING IT UP TO FRIGHTEN THE BIRDS OF PREY — A MOTIONLESS THING — FROM THE MERE FACT OF SEEING IT STANDING THERE — THEY BECOME ACCUSTOMED TO IT — AND INSTEAD OF BEING A TERROR TO THEM — THEY USE IT FOR A PERCH TO ROOST UPON —

I'M ALMOST SORRY THAT DANNY AND MABEL MOVED INTO THAT HOUSE ACROSS THE STREET CASPER! I LIKE THEM, BUT COLONEL HOOFER WILL SPEND A LOT OF TIME THERE AND HE'LL PROBABLY BE SPYING ON US! HE'LL KNOW EVERYTIME WE COME IN AND GO OUT!
DON'T WORRY ABOUT THAT TOOTS! HE'S NO SNOOP! I'LL SAY THAT FOR HIM!
COLONEL HOOFER HAS HIS FAULTS AND MANY OF THEM BUT HE'S NOT A SNOOP! IN FACT I LIKE HIM BECAUSE HE NEVER ASKS ANY QUESTIONS AND HE'S NOT INQUISITIVE!
HELLO MABEL! IS COLONEL HOOFER STILL HERE? TOOTS SAID SHE SAW HIM A LITTLE WHILE AGO!
SURE CASPER! HE'S UP IN MY ROOM! GO RIGHT ON UP!
IS THAT YOU DANNY? COME IN! TAKE A LOOK AT CASPER'S PLACE THROUGH THESE BINOCULARS! IT'S JUST LIKE BEING IN THE SAME ROOM WITH HIM! LOOK AT HIS CLOTHES SCATTERED ALL OVER HIS DEN! HE HAD ME BELIEVING THAT HE'S SO TIDY, THE FAKER

Friday, October 21, for the piking of a section of the Timson Road No. 125 D, located in the west part of Tully Township, to be bid by the ton for the stone and hauling combined. The road is to be 9 feet wide and 6 inches deep and of No. 4-6 stone. Stone to be put on with a stone spreader. Approximately 337 tons to be used.

EUGENE KENNEDY,
Clerk, Tully Township Trustees,
Route 1, Martel, Ohio

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the office of the County Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, in Marion, Ohio, until Tuesday, October 18, 1932, at two (2) o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time for furnishing all the material required for construction of the following described improvement, in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor on file in the office of said Board of Commissioners:

CLOVER AVENUE IMPROVEMENT, by grading and preparing road bed and construction of macadamized surfacing consisting of two (2) four inch courses of stone rolled down with stone dust, said surface to be of a width of sixteen (16) feet.

Length of improvement — 2,665 feet.

Estimated cost of material and labor—$7,985.50

Date for commencement of work —on or before October 25th, 1932.

Date for completion of work—on or before November 15th, 1932.

Bidders are requested to be present at the above named time and place where all proposals will be publicly opened, read and examined and an award made at that time or at such time to which consideration of said bids may be duly adjourned, as provided by law.

Each bid must be accompanied by cash or certified check on some solvent bank in an amount equal to five (5%) per cent of the estimated cost of the improvement, made payable to the order of the Commissioners of Marion County, for the benefit of said County, which will be forfeited by the successful bidders in case they fail to enter into a contract and bond within five days from the date of award of contract.

The successful bidders will be required to give bond in an amount equal to one-half the estimated cost of the improvement with two sureties or a surety company to the approval and satisfaction of the said Board of Commissioners for the proper construction and completion of the work.

Contractors will be required to give previous experience and the amount and size of equipment.

Bids to be signed by all parties interested in the contract.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, dated October 1, 1932.

T. A. O'LEARY,
Clerk of Board.

OLD TRICK WORKS

Horse-Thief Caught by "Dime Stabbing" Method

By International News Service

An old trick of the western [illegible] hiding a coin under the skin of a horse—recently brought Lawrence Titus to trial on horse-stealing charges.

Titus was accused of stealing a horse from Oscar Orwick, a western rancher of Butte county.

"Why I raised that horse from a small colt," Titus told Justice of the Peace A. W. Smith.

"Since you've owned this horse practically its entire life you probably know about the dime he carries," States Attorney C. E. Seward said.

"Dime? What dime?" asked Titus.

Seward revealed that Orwick a few weeks ago made a slight incision in the skin of the horse's front leg, and had inserted a silver dime under the hide. The incision had healed over, and soon afterwards, Orwick said, the horse disappeared.

The practice of "dime branding" had its inception in the old days of the open range, when horse stealing was one of the major problems of this region.

HAS ODD AILMENT

11-Year-Old Girl Suffers More Than 30 Bone Fractures

By International News Service

CHICAGO.—Search of a cure for an unusual ailment that has caused Mary Mestdagh of Homer, Mich., to suffer between 30 and 40 bone fractures in the 11 years of her life, has been undertaken by Dr. Frederick Harvey of Northwestern University here.

Mary is now in North Chicago Hospital with a broken right arm. The fracture was caused by a slight strain that did not even involve a fall.

"The ailment is unusual," Dr. Harvey said. "Examinations reveals that the bone structure is so extraordinarily thin and brittle that any slight stress results in a fracture. This obviously is a proper calcification appears to be occasioned through malnutrition of the membrane that nourishes the bone.

X-ray pictures have revealed that every long bone in her body has been broken one or more times.

Professor Plans To Rear Rocket Experiments

By United Press

WORCESTER, Mass.—A [illegible] hence, Prof. Robert H. Goddard of Clark University, may resume his rocket experiments which he has been carrying on for many years near Roswell, N. M.

The experiments recently were interrupted by the stoppage of grants from the Guggenheim Foundation, which was financing the work.

By shooting rockets equipped with meteorological devices, high into the sky, Goddard has been studying atmospheric conditions at various altitudes. Among others Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has shown a keen interest in the experiments.

REGRETS ABSENCE OF WHIPPING POST

By International News Service

DENVER — For once in his judicial career Municipal Judge Alvin H. Pickens had occasion to express real regret that Colorado had no whipping post.

As the next best punishment, he sentenced Charles Currie, 26, to the county jail for 20 days for beating his five-months old son in an effort to make him stop crying.

"We can't put a man like this with other prisoners," Deputy Warden Charles Thompson declared. "Maybe a few weeks on the floor will take some of the meanness out of him."

So Currie is sleeping on the floor.

JOBLESS MAN FINDS $500 IN OLD SUIT

By United Press

ST. LOUIS. — Arthur Simon took a dress suit from a clothes closet to sell to a ragman for $2. He had been unemployed for more than a year and needed the money for food.

"Those were the good old times," he mused as he recalled the free spending days when he was a boy, but a few years ago.

In searching through the pockets he found a roll of $100 dollar bills in a wallet he had forgotten.

WHEAT PRICE TREND HIGHER

Technical Position of Market Improves; Crop Estimate Released.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Oct 1—Wheat prices tended upward early today, influenced by indications of evening up to prepare for monthly unofficial crop reports Monday An advance in British exchange rates was construed as bullish concerning wheat Opening unchanged to ⅛@¼ higher, wheat afterward scored additional upturns Corn started unchanged to ⅛ off and subsequently held near the initial limits

One private monthly crop report issued today ahead of others contained a forecast that domestic winter wheat acreage for 1933 would be about six per cent less than last year, 37,500 000 acres The report also said the government Sept 1 estimate of spring wheat production was too high in North Dakota and Montana A special survey indicated 13 to 30 per cent increase of animal power farming the last year as compared with tractor farming.

Bulls cited as potential corrective factors a good domestic milling demand, a holding tendency by United States farmers, and a continuance of dry weather over important sections of the southwest It was likewise urged that European stocks of wheat were low, and the southern hemisphere crop outlook fluctuating On the other hand, European advices said overseas buying would be from hand to mouth so long as no serious crop damage developed Corn and oats reflected wheat firmness

GOES AFTER BUSINESS

Ohio Smithy Has Shop on Wheels

J. E. Rennard, Alliance, O., blacksmith, found that horses no longer were being brought to his shop to be shod because the roads were crowded with automobiles So today, the blacksmith shop rolls out into the country to get business

By The Associated Press

ALLIANCE, O—You've probably heard about Mahomet going to the mountain because the mountain would not come to Mahomet

Perhaps J E Rennard had, too, for that's the way he's carrying on his blacksmith business And, thanks to Rennard's thoughtfulness, many an old dobbin around Alliance that otherwise would be shoeless is kicking neatly shod hoofs around the pastures.

Long before other persons were complaining about hard times Rennard was sitting gloomily in his blacksmith shop here with nothing to do

He thought it was an "automobile age" for certain because cars were whizzing right past his door without a horse in sight.

Rennard had plenty of time to think He took stock of the ultimate future of smithy work if things went on like this

He went into the country and found there were plenty of horses there in spite of automobiles on the roads and tractors in the fight In fact, there were more than enough horses to keep the mightiest smithy busy.

Then he made his discovery Old dobbin, his hoofs cracked and curled was struggling over the clods unshod

'Why don't you shoe these horses?' Rennard asked.

"Take a horse out on these roads?" was the farmer's answer 'Not among all those automobiles It is too dangerous Besides, it takes too long to drive a horse to town"

That gave Rennard his idea He fitted up a large truck, equipped it with a large, portable anvil, a bucket of water in which to cool red hot iron and a kit of tools

Today Rennard is busier than ever Cars are no rides forth in his rubber-tired shop, taking iron shoes to Dobbin Besides farmers find the services of a blacksmith needed for many an odd job.

In the shade of trees and farm buildings Rennard stops to ply his trade, while villagers and rural spectators stand about

Rennard is a mighty man now and how the sparks fly

OLD TIMER HANDS OUT SOME ADVICE

By International News Service.

CORDAVILLE, Mass.—"Before you are 40 mingle with the older people, to learn all you can, after 40 traverse the order and mingle with the young folks'

Such was the advise expounded by 'Manager Dan' O'Neil, the sage of Cordaville, on his birthday anniversary in which he admitted that he was "born quite some time ago'

'Mgr Dan" as he is known to thousands in Worcester County, is baseball correspondent for the Framingham News, but his homely recordings are principally about 'Mgr. Dan', old time sport old time dancing master old time baseball manager. In fact, as he puts it, 'old time everything"

Dan still a bachelor, says that "a man is as young as he feels, and a woman as old as she looks"

MAIL ORDER SCHEME IS MONEY MAKER

By International News Service

ATLANTA, Ga—A mail order scheme said by postal authorities to have netted $1 000 profits resulted in the arrest here of the Rev Dan Otler, who claimed to be a minister in the African Baptist church

The Negro is alleged to have ordered merchandise through the mails using the names of various white persons in the community. Inspectors said he would call at the postoffice with forged papers authorizing delivery of the packages to him

MOTHER HELD AS PRISON BREAK AID

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Oct 1 Ella Florenz Thompson, 40, Cleveland negro, mother operator, was held today for an alleged attempt to smuggle four guns to her son, Charles Williams 22, serving a term at the Mansfield reformatory

IN JAILS AND JUNGLES

Woman Back from Hazardous Trip

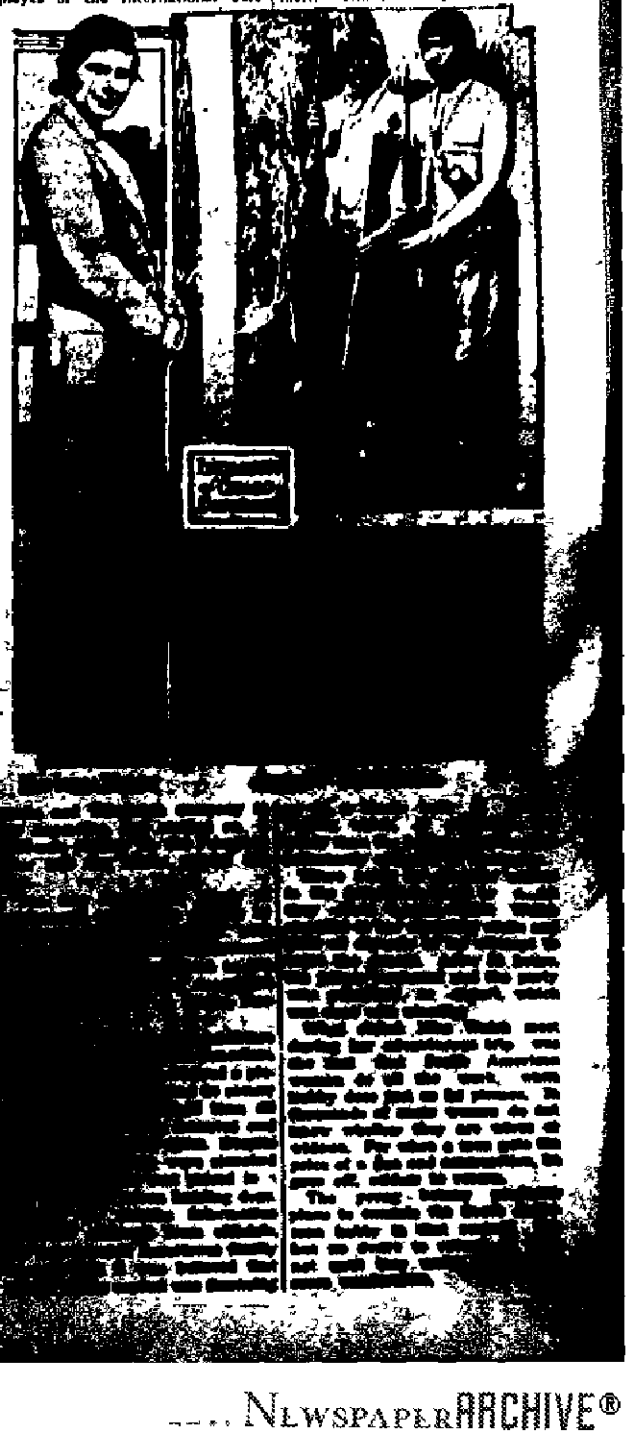
NEW YORK — So accustomed have we become to hearing of Southern hospitality that we have come to regard all points below the Mason-Dixon line, right down to the South Pole, as a world where the stranger within the gates is welcomed with open arms and made to feel 'right to home'

But the experience which an American girl a scholar and gentlewoman, recently underwent as far south as Bolivia makes one wonder if geography or points of the compass have anything to do with hospitality

The lady in question is Miss Lydia Walsh, professor of Botany at Elmira College, N. Y., who has just returned from an eventful trip down where the popular parlor game is revolution and is now recovering from the effects of South American solicitousness for the Northern tourist

Travel 2,000 Miles

Miss Walsh left New York last June for Buenos Aires, where she joined her brother, Robert, and his friend Thomas Ellingsen, employes of the International Tele-



Bolivia in the Chaco dispute to obtain oil grants, and that the trio of adventurers had been assumed to have been sent into Paraguay for espionage purposes

After a long ordeal in the bug and mosquito infested jail, the Americans were finally released through the efforts of an Argentine aviator, who had fought in the World war It was with feelings of relief that the travelers said farewell to Lapaz and continued their journey to Matto Grasso

Freed by Consul

But again they were compelled to sample South American hospitality, when arrested at Corumba and flung into another vermin-ridden jail From this Hades they were emancipated by the British vice consul, and once more they went their way.

Crossing the border into Bolivia, it was evident to the now homesick Americans that they had not left the jinx behind in Paraguay, for they were once more flung into durance by the Bolivian gendarmerie This time they were locked

MRS. SARAH SHAW CLAIMED IN AKRON

Funeral Services To Be Held Sunday at Daughter's Home in Prospect.

Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Shaw, 59, a native of Marion county, died yesterday at 3:30 a. m. at her home in Akron following a three weeks' illness of heart trouble.

The funeral will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lelah Ingle of Prospect, with Rev. John M. Chandler of the M. E. church officiating. Burial will be made in the Cardington cemetery.

Mrs. Shaw was born April 27, 1873, near Green Camp to William and Ellen Walker Self. Her first marriage, on Feb. 14, 1887, to Charles Culp, took place in Marion. Her second husband, Levi Shaw, to whom she was married March 25, 1914, in Cardington, died in 1916.

Surviving her are four daughters, Mrs. Ingle, Mrs. Gladys Crabbe of Springfield, Mrs. Elinor Byrd and Mrs. Ruth Golden at home, nine grandchildren, and two sisters, Mrs. Ellda Lauer of Cardington and Mrs. Mary Culp of Mt. Victory.

Mrs. Shaw was a member of Trinity M. E. church in Akron. Friends may view the body at the Ingle home.

OBITUARY

Omer Clinton Apt was born Aug. 27, 1872 at North Canaan to Jacob Young Apt and Hanah Manahan Apt, and died Sunday, Sept. 25th at 9 a. m. at his home, 136 Glover avenue, Marion, O., aged 60 years and 29 days.

He was married Oct. 26, 1890, to Jennie Mills of Denmark. To this union was given two daughters, Fern Oneta, Laura Leota, and one son, J. Y.

He had always been a member of the Methodist church, joining at North Canaan when a young man.

The family circle is broken, the vacancy can only be filled, by the memories of happy hours spent together, of his enduring patience and ready smile for all. His life was devoted unselfishly to his family, and readiness to help others.

He leaves beside the wife and children a sister Della Murray, a brother Charles Apt, both of Mt. Gilead, five grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends who will greatly miss him.

Our home on earth is but a mite,
Compared with the Home Above,
Where sorrow and sadness ne'er steal in,
Where the Bells toll only Love!
Our work here on earth is quickly o'er,
Death's Angel from Heaven descends,
To carry us back to our loved ones again,
We've reached our Journey's End.'

Church Holds Meeting.

CAREY, Oct. 1—The annual congregational meeting of Christ Lutheran church was held in the parish house Thursday night. Officers elected are: trustee, Wallace Ruchie; elder, C. C. Heck; deacon, Roy Montague.

NECKING HAS ITS USES

If it was not for the neck of his mount, Sun Eclipse, Jockey Collins would have suffered an eclipse just as the camera clicked to make this picture at the opening meeting at Aqueduct, N. Y., track. Cherie, farthest from the camera, won this race, the Grenada Hurdle for three-year-olds.

HE-MEN SURVIVE

Two Prove It by Using An Ax for Shaving.

PORTLAND, Ore.—The glorious days of the primitive lumberman have not vanished from the Pacific Northwest. Two loggers journeyed into Portland and proved it by shaving themselves with a double-bitted ax.

The reason for the trip and the demonstration was the publication of a statement by Stewart Holbrook in his 4-L Lumber News magazine in which he regretted the vanishing of the rugged "he-men" of the forest.

Holbrook was confronted by Paul Chriss, 20-year-old log bucker, who pointed out the slight on his profession and without more ado his keen-edged ax on his leather boot, lathered his jaw and whacked off his whiskers in a deft manner.

Why, there is nothing like a good old axe to shave with," Chriss declared as he turned to his fellow logger, J. S. Babcock, and proceeded to remove his beard.

"Next," Chriss addressed Holbrook, but the editor was convinced that the northwest woods still harbored raw-boned men.

OHIO'S MOST POPULAR GASOLINE!

SOHIO

X-70

'HEAT TEMPERED'

NOW 5 GALLONS FOR 85¢ INCLUDING 25¢ TAX

QUALITY—just downright high quality makes Sohio X-70 outsell any other brand of gasoline in Ohio. Sohio's heat-tempering process gives X-70 extra qualities of power, anti-knock and liveliness . . . but at no extra cost.

Pull up at the red-white-and-blue Sohio sign for five gallons or a tankful of that golden-amber X-70 and many extra miles of smooth, full-bodied power.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF OHIO

Lowest Gasoline Prices In 20 Years!

Today's gasoline prices are as low as any in 20 years. Even "before the war" in 1913, gasoline sold at 17c a gallon without any tax—and that's what you pay today for SOHIO X-70 including a 3c tax. You actually get on the average only 13c a gallon for SOHIO X-70. The remaining 3c represents an Ohio State Tax of 2c a gallon, and a Federal Tax of 1c a gallon.

PATH CLEARED FOR TRIAL OF $206,000 SUIT

Galion Bank Receiver's Suit Against Directors May Reach Court in December.

TWO ACTIONS SETTLED

Appeal of Mary Volk, Author of Petition, Not Yet Decided by Court.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND Oct 1—With the settlement of two receivers suits to collect the surety bonds of the president and cashier legal barriers holding up trial of the $206,000 recovery suit against eight directors of the Citizens National bank of Galion O., have been removed and the case may reach the courtroom this December it was learned today

Judge Paul Jones ordered that progress in the case would have to await disposition of the two suits brought by A E Evensen against the National Surety company on the bonds of J Earl Casey convicted former president of the bank and Mary Volk, cashier Settlement of these two matters for a total of $35,000 was announced by Evensen recently

Evensen's suit against the directors asks for recovery of $206,000 which was claimed to have been lost by the bank and its stockholders and depositors due to the alleged "negligence and mismanagement of funds by Casey with the consent of the others."

The next term of court for equity cases will be this December Federal court attaches have announced the case will be on the equity call list which is sent out in November and from which the trial docket is made up

It is entirely possible, it was revealed, that the suit, already on file more than a year may be delayed still longer with the request by counsel for some principal that the case not be tried at the next term of court.

The appeal of Mary Volk, who originally filed the action as a stockholder, to the federal court of appeals at Cincinnati from the court order here removing her as plaintiff in the suit and making Evensen author of the action, still remains to be disposed of This will not necessarily affect the time of the trial, it was pointed out.

Answers Not Filed

Most of the defendants, including Casey who is now serving a nine-year term at Atlanta penitentiary Gilbert L. Stiefel, Frank W. Faber Ernest F Klopp, H. J Bachelder, L. M Liggett, Herman H. Hartman and Henry Eichhorn, have yet to file their answers to the action.

The court set Sept. 28, 1931, as the last day for filing answers but any defendant is permitted at any time to ask and obtain permission to file an answer late Of course, if some answers are not filed by the time the case goes to trial, default judgments would be entered against the defendants not answering

Since the removal of Miss Volk from the case, there has been one other change in the principals of the suit. Judge Samuel H. West dismissed Henry Gottdiener of Cleveland as a defendant in the case last January on Gottdiener's motion. Evensen made Gottdiener a co-defendant in the action when he became plaintiff

TRIAL OF MASCHIKE IS CARRIED OVER

Attorney Rudy Rothman Offered on Bingo Shortage.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 1—Stating evidence of bingo shortages in the Cuyahoga county treasury was studied today by attorneys in the Maurice Maschike embezzlement trial, in adjournment for the week-end.

Maschike, Cleveland Republican leader, and four others are on trial, charged with aiding and abetting Alex Bernstein, former deputy county treasurer, in an embezzlement of $177,000.

Clywell M. Smith, certified public accountant, hired by Treasurer L. G Collister to investigate the shortages, testified yesterday, that on Aug 13, 14 and 14 of 1931, there was a treasury deficit of $1,500,000.

The actual shortage at the present time, Smith estimated at close of $500,000. The state will resume examination of its witnesses Monday when State Examiner James M Main will be called to the stand.

SIX INJURED WHEN 1,000 ATTACK MINERS

By The Associated Press

CANTON, Ill., Oct. 1 — Six men were injured today when a crowd estimated at 1,000 attacked miners as they attempted to go to work in the Clinchfield and Peabody coal mines, during the largest in the Fulton county independent field State police and deputy sheriffs were rushed to the scene. Several shots were fired.

5,000 CALLED BACK TO WORK

Steel Mills in Pittsburgh District Will Reopen Next Week.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1—Hundreds of dark, dreary homes in western Pennsylvania radiated with happiness today as jobs were provided for more than 5,000 persons after months of idleness.

The national works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Co at Monessen will reopen Monday on a three to four-day a week basis, reemploying 1,200 men and women Other departments in the mill are scheduled to resume operation in about 10 days giving work to 1,200 more employes.

Nearly 400 men have returned to work in four mills of the Lockhart Iron & Steel Co in Pittsburgh The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad recalled 400 men in its locomotive and car shops More than 150 laborers were put back to work in the carrier's freight car shop

The Union Railroad Co notified 150 shopmen to report at Monongahela Junction Oct 10 for part time work.

Officials of the Standard Tin Plate Co. announced its Canonsburg plant will reopen Monday They said 2,000 persons are affected

FINANCE GROUP TO GIVE FARMER AID

Moves To Prevent Loss of Farms on Foreclosure.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—The American farmer had been assured today that the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. would be used, through various subsidiary agencies, to "help the farmer keep his farm."

The assurances were given at the convention of a conference held here yesterday at the suggestion of President Hoover.

Henry H. Robinson of Los Angeles, chairman of the conference, attended by representatives of governmental groups and private organizations, said, after the meeting had adjourned:

"The result is that the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. is to be thrown behind the opinion which had existed and existed long, namely, that the selling of farms under present conditions is to help the farmer keep his home."

VOTERS QUALIFYING FOR FALL ELECTION

Persons Not Eligible To Cast Ballot Are Registering at Rate of 25 a Day.

Registrations qualifying Marion citizens to vote at the Nov 8 election are being made in the office of the board of elections at the rate of approximately 25 a day C G Ritzler deputy clerk of the board said today

With the registration deadline only 38 days away this number is expected to gradually increase he said Despite this tendency to register early there undoubtedly will be a long waiting line on Oct. 18, the final date he said

Political Workers Active

The activity of political workers who have been urging prospective voters of their respective parties to qualify as voters for the coming election has been a factor contributing to the register early movement.

Transfers of registrations in cases where persons have changed their residence since last registering also are being made daily in the election board headquarters

Between 700 and 800 persons have registered this year, and probably a third of that number have transferred their registrations Ritzler said

No General Registration

Election board activities have been somewhat lightened by the fact that 1932 has brought the first presidential election in Ohio in which a general registration is not required Persons required to register include persons who reached the voting age since the last election and who have not yet registered those whose names have been changed by marriage and persons who have failed to cast a ballot at the last two elections. Failure to vote at two consecutive November elections disqualifies a voter unless he or she reregisters, Ritzler explained

WATCH FOR EXTRA ON SERIES GAME

The complete play by play account of today's World series contest in Chicago will appear in The Star's sports extra late this afternoon In addition to the Cub-Yank battle, the extra also will carry a story on the battle of Harding's Presidents at Delaware Both games are slated to start at 2 30 p m, Marion time

WELCOME FOR ALL AT STAR'S SCHOOL

Mrs. Campbell Will Have Message of Interest for Women in All Positions.

One bride asked if she could bring her husband to The Marion Star's cooking school which will open Tuesday afternoon in The Star auditorium "I want him to see the model kitchen so we can eventually have one like it she wrote

Another woman wrote I have to do without a maid this year, and it's like starting housekeeping all over again Do you really think I'll learn anything at your cooking school?"

A busy young mother wrote, "I haven't much time to spend on fancy cooking but I do want nourishing dishes which taste good and look delicious. And they mustn't cost much. Please tell Mrs. Ruth Campbell to have that kind in one day's session."

Of course, the bride may bring her husband. And he will be in-

OFFICERS NAMED AT DISTRICT MEET HERE

Mt Vernon Named for 1933 Session of Disciples of Christ.

Rev Roy Wolford of Akron was elected president of District No. 6 of the Disciples of Christ in Ohio at a one-day district meeting here yesterday at Central Christian church The total registration for the day and night sessions reached 302. Mt. Vernon was chosen as the place for the 1933 convention.

Other officers elected yesterday afternoon were Rev. A. C. Baldwin of Fredericksburg, vice president; Rev. Turner Bish of Shannondale, secretary-treasurer and Miss Lena Bishoff of Mt. Vernon, women's secretary.

The afternoon session and the yearly dinner last night were given over to addresses and discussion on the general theme of the meeting, "Christian Fellowship and Practical Truth."

Approximately 125 attended the yearly progress banquet last night at which Rev. Raymond F. Mellott, state director of religious education, and Miss Jessie G. Budd, pastor of Central church, gave the main addresses.

A hymn was conducted in the afternoon by Rev. Gilbert H. Cook, secretary of the Ohio Christian missionary society, on "Making the Most of Your Spiritual Resources." In this Rev. Cook emphasized, among other things, the establishment of new churches and ways in which old churches could be made more effective. Religious publicity was discussed by Rev. Cook, who urged the use of the radio and the press in getting the truth of God's word to the people.

The afternoon session was opened with a devotional service conducted by Rev. Mellott. Rev. Cook's address followed.

Rev. Wolford, in his address, urged the use of the radio and the press in getting the truth of God's word to the people.

WRIGLEY FIELD, CHICAGO Oct. 1—The blazing sun of a perfect fall day a clear blue cloud flecked sky and just breeze enough to fan excited brows warmed and thrilled 50,000 early patrons rushing into bleacher seats today for the third game of the world series

It was a lively picture, and a strange contrast to the blase indifference of New Yorkers who failed to rally in capacity numbers for the first two games.

In order to swell the capacity of one of the finest baseball establishments in the National league to slightly above 51,000 temporary bleachers had been built beyond the walls of the park, extending over Sheffield avenue on the right field side and Waveland avenue on the left field quarter

Undismayed by the double defeat of the beloved warriors of Charley Grimm, the Bruin faithful started through the gates toward the temporary seats as soon as tickets went on sale at 8 30 a. m. and by 11 a. m., cheering and shouting as though the Cubs were just beginning their assault, the bleachers had all but filled the temporary stands, looking to an one field. These seats held 9,000 persons.

WHITE BILLS PASSED WITH LITTLE CHANGE

Agreement on Salary Reduction Reached After Lively Arguments.

LONG NIGHT SESSION HELD

Saving of $2,050,000 Yearly Estimated from Pay Slashes

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Oct 1—Ohio's fifth special session of the 89th general assembly ended a four-day session early today after adopting a program of legislation proposed by Governor George White to effect governmental economies and provide relief for individuals financial institutions and political subdivisions.

All the relief legislation contained in seven bills was enacted into law virtually as presented by the chief executive with only minor differences developing between the two branches The economy bills, three in number and proposing salary reductions for public officials and employes, resulted in splitted fights between the two houses, and one of them almost resulted in the session extending over into next week

Several plans for making the contemplated salary cuts were proposed The one finally adopted and applied to all state officials and employes county elective officials and county election board members and office employes, provided for a cut of 6 per cent on the first $1,000 10 per cent on the second $1,000 12½ per cent on the third $1,000; 15 per cent on the fourth $1,000, 17½ per cent on the fifth $1,000 and 20 per cent on all above $5,000

Approved by Governor

The governor had proposed a cutting scale of 5 per cent on the first $1,000 10 per cent on the next $4,000 and 15 per cent on all over $5,000 The executive's advisers, however, said the schedule adopted was satisfactory to the governor The total annual saving by the cuts, which are to become effective next Jan 1, and continue for two years, was estimated by Senator Robert Rorx, Republican, of Tiffin, chairman of the senate finance committee, at $1,725,000 on state officers and employes' salaries; $175,000 on county elective officials, and $150,000 on county election board members, clerks and office employes. The estimated total for all three bills was $2,050,000 a year

All three salary cut bills had to be sent to conference committees to adjust the differences between the two houses on salary schedules These affecting the county offices and election boards were first to be adjusted

The state salary cut bill was adjusted as to scale of cuts and promptly accepted by the house, but the senate balked for almost an hour on accepting the confer-

U. S. EXPORTS SHOW INCREASE IN REPORT

Foreign Buying of Cotton, Wheat, Petroleum Top Improvement.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Foreign purchases of cotton, wheat and petroleum, described as "unseasonably large," today topped improvement in America's 1932 exports made chief in figures of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The report compared the first eight months of this year with the corresponding 1931 period and said:

"Twenty-four principal exports out of 30 were shipped abroad in larger quantities in that period than in the same half of last year."

"The prices of many exports were the lowest in years, which accounted to a large extent for the small total value of our exports. [illegible] 38 per cent below that year."

"Despite this heavy fall, the United States still maintains first rank as the leading export nation."

DANNER BUICK CO. TAKES PRIDE IN ITS COMPLETE REPAIR, SERVICE AND ACCESSORY DEPARTMENTS

Write an ad (8x12") for C. D. & M. Electric on the Westinghouse Lamp Campaign, and submit to C. D. & M. not later than 5 p. m. next Wednesday. For further details call Mr. Wm. Brown at C. D. & M.—2262.

Your good will is the first and last consideration of the Danner Buick Co. It leaves nothing undone in an honest effort to merit that logan. The facilities of the company and the sincere interest of every employe are at your command. This is the policy of the Danner Buick Co. It is prominently displayed on a sign at the garage and seems to permeate the atmosphere and entire personnel and instantly impresses those who enter this place of business.

"We find that real service is one of the most important assets to our business," states Carl Danner, president and general manager of the company. Instant service that's willing and helpful—the kind that sends you away satisfied because the work you ask for has been done in the finest possible way and because of those little extra services is what the public wants and gets here.

Pleasure and driving enjoyment is only derived from a car in which one has complete confidence and control. Most autos will give definite service if proper care is given and parts are replaced as they begin to show wear. That's why periodical inspections are necessary to keep a car perfect mechanically.

Motorists need not hesitate to entrust the Danner Buick Co. with the care and upkeep of their car. The mechanics thoroughly understand every branch of auto repair. Irl Reasoner, well known in automobile circles here, is in charge of the service department. He has worked with authorized Buick organizations for 15 years. Reasoner states that his shop has the most complete line of tools and modern machinery in this section of the state due to the fact the organization is continually purchasing new equipment. Consequently service second to none is available to motorists in Marion and vicinity.

Kirk-Way valve refacer and reseating tools, generator and starter testers, armature lathe and undercutter, Sunnen cylinder bore, grinding, reaming and polishing machines are some of the machines which enable the experienced mechanics to deftly and quickly accomplish all repair jobs.

It is a good policy to get your car ready for winter driving lest a cold snap catch you unaware. The radiator and cylinder block should be cleaned by air and water pressure and inspected for leaks. Lubricant in the differential, transmission and steering column should be changed. The battery should be checked, recharged or given necessary attention. Perhaps the heater needs attention or a new one installed. The ignition system, faulty spark plugs and timing points often cause considerable trouble. The spark plug and ignition tester for synchronizing timing and points quickly disclose any weakness at these points. Special Marvel carburetor tools and vacuum gauge are invaluable and make accurate carburetor setting a simple feat.

Special attention should be given to the brakes. Faulty brakes make motoring unsafe at all times, much more so during the fall and winter when pavements are wet and slippery. Raybestos Vel-Cro, a woven brake lining with lead insert is stocked by the Danner Buick. Protects, a moulded lining of A1 quality is used for internal expanding brakes. Installation of brake lining is offered FREE if it is purchased here. The brake tester and equalizer assures perfect adjustments.

Let us not neglect the parts and accessory department. As the Danner Buick Co. is an authorized Buick garage naturally only genuine Buick parts are stocked. O. E. Manbeck—a very capable man to have in charge of this department—seems to have every one of the hundreds of parts at his fingertips for one can get any desired item without an instants delay. The fact that all parts for every model Buick later than 1926 are stocked is somewhat unusual. This includes a line of ignition and carburetor parts complete in every respect. Tires, tubes, batteries and even a Philco auto radio can be obtained at any time.

Tire repairing as well as battery service, recharging and repair is attended to by Ike Osmun who has had much experience in this work.

Spray painting equipment is another item of benefit to the car owner now offered by the Danner company. Only genuine Duco paints are used. It is possible to have the entire car refinished or just have parts touched up. All colors can be matched perfectly.

ALEMITE SERVICE AT DANNER BUICK

Indifference toward regular lubrication on the part of a car owner is a costly habit. It usually means high repair bills and replacement of parts. American automobile repair bills in 1930 averaged $150 a car which is about 1½ cents per mile. Undoubtedly a large part of this could have been saved. A well lubricated machine requires less power, runs more smoothly, rides more comfortably and consumes less fuel. These reasons alone are convincing enough not to neglect lubrication of any car. Genuine Alemite greasing service is available at the Danner garage and all work done must conform with Alemite standards. Work is performed by mechanics who are well acquainted with every grease cup, nut and bolt on your car hence you are assured that every moving part will be properly lubricated.

PAY CUT, RELIEF PROGRAM PASSED

Agreement Reached After Spirited 4-Day Legislative Session.

ence committee's report when it was discovered that salary cuts were to be made on the basis of the payrolls in effect Dec 31, this year The senate wanted the cuts to be based on the Dec., 1931, payrolls, contending that several salaries had been increased since that time

Senate Plans Sidetracked

Republican leaders had decided not to accept the conference committee's recommendation until the date for basing the cuts was changed to Dec 1931, but the house in the meantime, had accepted the report and adjourned until 1 30 p m next Monday Thus the senate was placed in the position of having to accept the report with the cuts based on the Dec. 1932 payrolls or to call the entire membership of both houses back to make the change next Monday The session Monday is only for the presiding officers to sign the bills and only a few members are expected to attend no quorum being needed

A conference between senate members, Lieutenant Governor William G. Pickrel, several house members and Finance Director Howard L. Bevis, was held in the senate chamber and the matter of accepting the conference committee's report or calling the entire assembly back next Monday was freely discussed.

The conference committee's report finally was accepted by the senate at 2 this morning, almost an hour after the house had adjourned. The roll had to be called several times before the necessary 17 votes were obtained to pass the bill, several senators having gone to their hotels for the night and others refusing to vote. Senators John A Lloyd of Portsmouth and Roy J Gillen of Williston, Republicans, cast the only negative votes

Repeal Proposal Killed

The proposal of Senator Joseph F Ackerman, Republican of Cleveland, to submit a constitutional amendment to the voters in November next year, to repeal state prohibition was put to bed in the senate temperance committee where it was sleeping when the session adjourned.

Ackerman sought a vote on the measure on outright adoption or rejection, but was foiled by the motion to send it to the temperance committee, which carried by a vote of 17 to 10

Typical salary revisions under the act as worked out by state Finance Director Howard L. Bevis are:

Office	Present Salary	Reduction
Governor	$10 000	$3 000
Director of cabinet	6,500	900
Other elective state officials	6,500	900
Supreme court judge	12,000	2,000
President Ohio State university	13,500	2,500

The first reduction is to be taken from the pay of state employes on Jan 15, 1933 Reductions are to be made on the December 1932 payrolls

Probably the second most important enactment was the Hunsperger state housing law authorizing formation of limited dividend corporations for the purpose of slum elimination and the construction of needed housing facilities for families of low income with the aid of the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The measure is to allow Ohio cities to participate in federal funds for the elimination of slums in large cities as a welfare and unemployment relief project.

Provisions of Measure

The incorporated corporation would be authorized to demolish slum buildings and replace them with modern apartments to rent at a low figure. A city board of [illegible] sectors of welfare, public works and commerce and four persons appointed by the governor to serve without compensation, would be provided

Another act of the assembly would authorize Ohio political subdivisions to obtain federal emergency relief funds from the R. F C The bill would enable the governor to make application for the funds on request of the political subdivisions

Other relief enactments were:

A bill enabling Ohio building and loan companies to invest in and become members of the federal home loan banks (An emergency act)

A bill to permit special tax levies voted in the November 1932 election to be placed on the December 1932 tax duplicate for collection. (An emergency act)

An amendment to the uniform bond act to authorize renewal of notes issued in anticipation of bond issues for a period of two years if the bonds remain unsold, and authorizing the exchange of bonds for maturing notes or the exchange of refunding bonds for maturing bonds (An emergency act)

An amendment of the same act to permit refunding of special assessments reassessments of defaulted bonds to be paid over a 15-year period

A bill extending for one year the provisions of the Byrd act which permits local political subdivisions to issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of delinquent taxes when the delinquencies exceed 33⅓ per cent of the anticipated collections

Resolutions Adopted

Three resolutions recommended by the governor were adopted by the legislature They were

A resolution introduced by Representative Clarence Burk, Democrat of Huron county authorized the governor to appoint a commission to investigate milk prices throughout the state Every phase of the milk situation was recommended for inquiry.

A resolution of Representative George Forker, Republican of Hancock county, provided for appointment of a legislative committee of 10 members to inquire into the feasibility of the state assuming unpaid balances of highway assessments levied against abutting property owners and the refunding of payments already made.

A resolution of Senator C J Lowery, Republican of Muskingum county, requesting officials not affected by the salary cutting legislation because of constitutional immunity to voluntarily return a portion of their salaries to place them on an equality with officials whose salaries are effected by the legislation.

LABOR IS FAVORABLE TO G.O.P. PLATFORM

Treatment of Suggested Planks by Both Parties Given in Statement.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Oct. 1—The report of the non partisan committee on party platforms of the American Federation of Labor was said today by William L. Hutcheson, director of the labor bureau of the Republican national committee, to be highly satisfactory to Republicans

Hutcheson, who is associated with the Brotherhood of Carpenters, said in a statement released by the Republican national committee:

"Never has the domination and control of the Democratic party by the anti-union south been given greater emphasis than is given in this report.

"There side by side in deadly parallel are presented the denial of the anti-union Democratic south of such fundamentals as the right of labor to organize and bargain collectively The rights of free assemblage, free speech and a free press so essential to the protection and betterment of labor

"As stated by President William Green and his associates, he presented 23 requests for planks to both Republican and Democratic conventions Of this 23 the report shows that the Republicans definitely adopted 10 ignored 11, and were not so definite on two as against four approved by the Democrats 16 which they avoided and three on which they were vague and ambiguous"

Spark in 10,000 Gallons of Gas Causes Small Fire

A spark from a chimney dropped into a tank containing 10 000 gallons of gasoline at the plant of the Superior Oil Co., on Davida street shortly before 7 o'clock this morning The result however, was just a burst of blue flame which was smothered out when firemen from the No 2 station replaced the lid on the tank

Had the tank contained but a small portion of the 10 000 gallons, a terrific explosion would probably have taken place according to firemen The gasoline filled the tank so near the top that there was only room for a small portion of gas.

One of the employes of the company, firemen said, had been measuring the amount of gasoline in the tank which is buried under the ground near the station when he was called into the office and left without replacing the cap. When he returned a few minutes later he discovered flames coming from the tank and called the fire department. There was no damage

Firemen from the No 2 station answered a call to the home of George Parish at 84 Mary street early last night where sparks from a chimney had set fire to the roof of the dwelling The damage was confined to a few shingles.

Love of Christ Needed

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. E. RADEMAUGH,

Pastor Calvary Evangelical Church.

Text: I Corinthians 16.22. "If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema Maran-atha."

This is not an outbreak of passion. The apostle does not speak in his own name, but in the name of the Lord. He spake as he was moved by the Holy Spirit, he simply delivered the message which he had received from heaven. The Lord was speaking through Paul with the purpose of awakening any who might be deceiving themselves with a name to live while spiritually dead, as well as to alarm careless non-professors of religion.

We wish to mention a few classes of people who do not love the Lord Jesus Christ: 1 Those who deny that the Bible is the word of God do not love the Lord Jesus Christ. They assert that it is a cunningly devised fable, an imposition, the fabrication of artful and designing men. The same is true of those who discard any of the fundamental doctrines of our holy religion; such as the deity of Christ, the depravity of the human heart, justification by faith alone, the atonement, resurrection and the reality and eternity of future rewards and punishments.

They do not love the Lord Jesus Christ who trust in their own works for salvation. Amiability of disposition, morality of character and attendance to religious duties may exist where there is no true love to the Savior. Saul of Tarsus was one of the strictest of Pharisees, but after he was "born again" he had to renounce all hope of salvation by works.

They love not the Lord Jesus Christ who are disobedient to His will. Obedience is the test of discipleship. "If a man love me, he will keep My words, and My Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our abode with him. He that loveth Me not, keepeth not My sayings." Those who keep His commandments, and those only, He regards as being His disciples—as loving Him.

They love not the Lord Jesus Christ who refuse to confess Him before men. Christ Jesus says, "Whosoever shall confess Me before men, him will I confess before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny Me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven." In a word, it is to make a public profession of salvation. Beloved you may offer a thousand reasons for not confessing Christ before men, but, after all, the true reason is, your want of love for Him.

All impenitent and unconverted are destitute of the love of Christ Jesus. "The carnal mind is enmity against God; it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be." The unconverted sinner has this carnal mind. Hence it is necessary that the sinner be born again and sanctified wholly in order that this enmity may be destroyed, and the principle of love implanted.

In the last place let us notice the punishment for not loving the Lord Jesus Christ. "Let him be Anathema Maran-atha—accursed when the Lord cometh." If any man, no matter what his endowment, wealth, standing in society, talents, education or profession may be, "If any man (one) love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema Maran-atha." What it is to be accursed? It implies to be separated from Christ, from the holy angels, from the redeemed, from heaven and all its enjoyments. It also implies to be consigned to the fire prepared for the devil and his angels.

Those who love Christ will be blessed when he comes. He will save them as a man spareth his own son that serveth him. He will say to them, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father.

Seven Marion Churches Plan Special Programs

Promotion and Rally Day Services To Be Held by Sunday School Bodies; Young People Will Take Leading Roles.

The Sunday schools of seven Marion churches will observe either rally or promotion day or both, at special services Sunday morning.

Fite Memorial Baptist, Trinity Baptist, the First Presbyterian, the First United Brethren, the First Reformed, Oakland Evangelical, and Salem Evangelical, have announced programs, practically all of which will be given at combined Sunday school and church services.

The Fite Memorial church has announced the following program for a combined service at 9.15 a. m. welcomes, Robert Foos and Ruth Millisor; recitations, Naomi Good, Edwin Smith, Jack Darling, Everett Smith, Maxine Frost, Winifred Stevens and Denver Holliday; song, beginners department; exercise, eight junior girls; missionary exercise, in costume, "Little Citizens." Rev. E. C. Futtert, pastor, will give a sermonette, "Virgin Soil."

A combined service to observe rally and promotion day will be held at Salem Evangelical church at 9 a. m. Rev. H. C. Ahrens, pastor, will speak on "Team Work."

To Present Bibles

Bibles will be presented the children of the First United Brethren Sunday school for faithful performance of requirements. The presentation will be in observance of promotion day. A special program of songs and recitations will be given. The service will be at 9:15 a. m.

Fred Magaig of Lindsey, O., will be the special speaker at the rally day services at the Oakland Evangelical church. A goal of 600 in attendance at Sunday school and an offering of $200 for the building fund, has been set for the day.

The First Presbyterian church has announced the following rally day program:

Scripture reading, Charles Heeplee; prayer, Henry A Mickley; quartet, Miss Madeline Dunlap, Mrs Earl N. Hale, John F. Lacey and Harwood Taylor, "O That Will Be Glory"; "Our Teachers," talks by James Frew and J. B Bray; benediction, Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor. The Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Bert D. Myers will furnish music for the program.

Certificates of promotion will be presented the children of the kindergarten, beginners, primary, junior and intermediate departments of the First Reformed church in a promotion day service Sunday morning. Special exercises and presentations will be made in the main assembly room under the direction of the general superintendent, E. L. Cleveland.

Trinity Baptist

The Sunday school of Trinity Baptist church will assemble in the church auditorium at 10 a. m. for the annual rally day service, following the regular school session at 9 a. m. Following a devotional service conducted by the general superintendent, Harry B. Woodall, the superintendent of the departments, will present their programs.

The primary department of which Mrs. Clay Smith is superintendent, will present the following program: recitation, "A Convincing Welcome," Paul Everett; exercise, "Welcome," Rhea Jean McClure, Margaret Fulk, Miriam Joan Secord, Betty Pickett, Jean Myers, Margaret Milligan; recitation, "A Helper," Junior Wormsell; recitation, "Little Links," Elizabeth Zuspan; recitation, "When I Grow Up," Dan Houpt; song, Marion Baker; recitation, "The Sunday School Fan," Junior Myers; recitation, "The Only Explanation," Margaret Ellen Davidson; the Books of the Bible, William Gracely; recitation, "Everybody Working," Kathryn Firstenberger.

To Present Playlet

The junior department of which Miss Grace Durfee is superintendent will present its part in the program in the form of a missionary playlet, "Go Ye Into All the World." The playlet will introduce the work of the Children's World Crusade, of which Miss Elsie Barger is in charge and which is a new objective in the junior department. The entire departments will participate in the program. Speaking and pantomime parts will be taken by Betty Cahill, Doris Davis, Mary Fields, Dorothy Firstenberger, Dorothy Harrell, Dorothy McClure, Ruth McClure, Ava Marie Powelson, Grace Turner, Elizabeth Wilcox, Richard Duffey, John Gracely, Robert Harrell, Wayland Jacobs, Richard Kemmerly, Owen Meddles, Carl Meddles.

The adult department program will consist of a reading by Margaret Brooks, a piano duet by Mrs. W. R. Roberts and Miss Bernita LeMasters and a brief address by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence A. Wood. The Sunday school orchestra will play the music for the program.

Salvation Army Post To Compete for State Prize

The Marion post of the Salvation Army, winner of the banner awarded last year in an attendance and membership contest conducted in the Central Ohio division, will compete for a second banner this year.

The contest will open Sunday and will be known this year as the Golden Jubilee campaign, commemorating the opening of the first Army post in Ohio at Columbus on Jan. 12, 1882. The closing date will be Jan. 12.

Twenty-one posts from Toledo and VanWert on the west and northwest, through Columbus to Martins Ferry and Bellaire on the Ohio river, make up the Central Ohio Army division, and each post will take part in the contest.

Marion won the banner last year with a lead of 326 points over Columbus Post No. 2, and 1,331 over the Coshocton posts. Columbus and Coshocton are considered the greatest competition in the contest.

The banner to be awarded this year is larger and more beautiful than the one of last year, Capt. John Hunter, head of the Marion Army post, said yesterday. It will be made up in the Salvation Army colors, yellow, red and blue.

Credits toward winning the banner are gained for attendance and additions to the young people's department only, and will be computed on a percentage basis for each per cent of increase over the same three month period of 1931.

Commander Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in America, will present the banner to the winning post at a Golden Jubilee celebration Jan. 12 in Columbus.

The Marion post Sunday school service is conducted each Sunday at 2 p. m. at the headquarters at 403 West Center street.

DELAWARE PASTOR TO PREACH SUNDAY.

Rev. E. E. Young To Occupy Marion Pulpit.

Rev. E. E. Young, pastor of the First Reformed church of Delaware, will occupy the pulpit of the First Reformed church here Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. Young will teach the Rooster class during the Sunday school hour and will deliver the sermon to the Junior congregation at 10.15 a. m.

Dr. Robert W. Hucke, pastor, will deliver the sermon Sunday night at 7:30, using as his topic, "My Need of Christ and Christ's Need of Me." The chancel choir under the direction of Asa Quinn, will present a program of special music.

PRAYER MEETINGS PLANNED AT CHURCH

Prayer meetings will be conducted each night next week at the First Church of the Brethren in accordance with a National Prayer week movement.

Rev. G. G. Canfield, pastor, will have charge of the meditation each night at 7:45.

"Penitence and Prayer" will be the general theme of the week's services. No service will be held Saturday night.

Stamps, Economy, Relief.

Two principles of governmental function are making a bad team to keep in hand. The nation is supposed to be dedicated to the task of scaling down the cost of government. It also is dedicated to the task of providing public employment. The result is going to be a vast deal of difficult managing before the two can be brought into cooperation.

A subcommittee of the house postoffice committee, for instance, goes on record in favor of restoring the 2-cent postage rate. One of the reasons is to provide more work; the 3-cent rate has been driving business away. But the 3-cent rate was inaugurated with the intention of saving money, in the belief that it would help to cut down the annual postoffice deficit. The net effect, evidently, has been frustration of both intentions.

There is the public building program to consider in the same light. American taxpayers will pay dearly for all the government is supposed to be giving the unemployed by this method. But, ironically, while it curses taxation it is cursing government's failure to provide more relief, at the same time.

This is another manifestation of the paternalistic concept of government which has boosted taxpayers' expenses to the danger point. Eventually, Americans are going to have to decide whether they will dance to the piper's music and pay his fee, or whether they are going to continue to demand dancing without payment. The relief bill they are cunning up is going to help them make up their minds.

Bostonian Logic.

There is no inclination to hold candidates closely to account for all the things enthusiasts may say in their behalf. A man may pretend to be able to control such things as international relations, the value of the dollar, prosperity and the problems of industry without mentioning the tongues of his own party workers—and still not be obligated to make any apologies for the omission.

Among many Roosevelt enthusiasts is Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, who, for reasons best known to himself, is crowding into the Democratic picture by his own invitation. There are round people who can't be "sat on." Mayor Curley is one of them. He happens to control, temporarily, the march of Democratic progress in Boston's cultured wards.

Wednesday night he made a speech in Cleveland. The occasion was marked by the presence of Martin L. Sweeney, who bolted the Ohio delegation at Chicago and voted for Roosevelt. Conspicuously absent were representatives of the regular Democratic organization, which has been administering official chastisement to Mr. Sweeney for daring, as he puts it, "to back a winner."

Mayor Curley demands that the federal government pay the soldiers in cash, at once. He uses the economic argument: payment would be a means of expanding the currency—$15,000,000,000, he said, using the basis of a dollar changing hands 10 times every 30 days.

Where would the money be obtained? The answer is easy for Mayor Curley. There would be a tax on beer. With the money left over after the bonus was paid a vast federal construction program would be started. One important omission is made. If beer were to be legalized in time, what would cause Americans to drink enough beer to return billions in revenue to the treasury when the most money that could be raised under wartime rates on all alcoholic beverages was less than half a billion?

Is Mayor Curley holding a trial balloon for Mr. Roosevelt? If not, a little muzzling of the kind that proved effective on John N. Garner would seem to be advisable.

The Real Argument.

Ogden L. Mills, foremost campaigner among members of the Hoover cabinet, used the best argument Republicans possess before the party's Michigan convention Thursday. It is President Hoover's capability and his right to finish the job he has started.

The President's capability has been questioned freely. He has been charged with responsibility for virtually every unfavorable thing that has happened during his four years in the White House. He and the leaders of his party are perfectly aware of the power of the dissatisfied vote that will be registered in November. They realize that it may place the opposition's candidate in office.

It is to dissatisfied voters that the Republican campaign must be addressed, therefore. It must make an appeal to reason. It must ask voters to consult their reason as well as their emotions before making up their minds. Unfortunately, it is a difficult kind of campaigning to do. Elections in the United States never have been distinguished by a preponderance of reason over emotion.

This much is true, nevertheless. The outcome of the election will not alter the fact that an American living today is known to have capacities which would have enabled him to do more, as President, to lessen the effects of the economic depression than Herbert Hoover has done. That, necessarily, is the basis of the Republican campaign. They are not introducing Mr. Hoover to the nation as Democrats are introducing Franklin D. Roosevelt. The Republican candidate is the best known living American.

No one, knowing him, can deny that he has spared nothing in his efforts to lead the nation through one of its most trying periods. To be sure, he has not been able to avert the depression. But criticising him for that implies that some other man could have done more. Advising his defeat in November, similarly, implies that there is another man in whom the nation has more confidence. Few Democrats are willing to make such a claim for Roosevelt. Who, then, is the man?

Is he an ideal, existing only in imagination? He is. If the Republican party is not to meet defeat this year it must make voters think in terms of men—real men and not ideals. "Who But Hoover" is the best slogan; Herbert Hoover's proved capacity for leadership is the party's best argument.

Honoring Each Other.

One looks in vain for signs that Governor Roosevelt is trying to convince conservative Democrats that he represents their views. It has been a by-word of political forecasting that his campaign would be waged with the intention of pleasing them as well as liberals and radicals. But they are still waiting.

They have examined his speeches, to be sure, with less alarm than they anticipated he would cause. With the exception of his proposal to put government into the production of electrical power, his program is unimportant; there is nothing in it that is new, nothing in it that has not been said better by other politicians.

But in his obviously enthusiastic reception of the support of Senators Hiram Johnson and George W. Norris there is no comfort for a conservative Democrat. They have drawn out the governor's warmest flattery like magnets attract iron filings. He has taken no pains to conceal the fact that they are his most valuable recruits.

He has issued a frank invitation to others of the same type. He has demonstrated conclusively that, in composition, he desires to make his party a modern counterpart of the party of Bryan. He has forced Democrats to ask themselves whether or not they agree with their leader's enthusiastic welcome to the nominal Republicans, Johnson and Norris; whether or not they want a Huey Long to sit at his right hand.

Their questioning may have to go further, if Mr. Roosevelt is elected. How would the party be able to hold the protest vote? How could it guarantee against a disastrous desertion as soon as temporary Democrats realized they hadn't gained anything tangible by voting for spite? Would Johnson, Norris, Long, Wheeler, Nye and the rest of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign friends constitute a council smart enough to run the party? Or would it be possible to sell them down the river and forget they ever helped elect "another Roosevelt?" Conservative Democrats are wondering. While they are wondering, needless to say, they aren't whooping it up for the candidate very enthusiastically.

Collections Are Slow.

There's at least one redeeming feature about the relationship between the United States government and its foreign debtors. The only surprising thing they can do is to pay, and they pay rarely. Americans at least know where they stand. Shocks are infrequent.

Germany, as anticipated, will not pay the $7,800,000 called for this month under the debt funding agreement. Three months ago Secretary of the Treasury Mills opened the way to postponement by waiving the 90-day notice of intention to withhold payment, as provided in the funding treaty.

This means that the vast total of international indebtedness is increased, since postponed payments draw interest at high rates. It is "relief" with a vengeance, as temporary relief often is. In the end, there will be more pain than ever.

Unless action is taken to postpone them, payments of $128,000,000 are due the United States in December of this year. They are anticipated in the estimates for national income which were used in balancing the budget for the current fiscal year. If collections continue slow in December the treasury department will have to break down and admit its helplessness in the presence of so many bad accounts.

It is impossible to say how long the problem of war debts will remain unsolved, but it is as certain as anything that no action is possible before the election. International courtesy forbids the embarrassment of an administration by pressing a problem of such importance during a campaign period. As it appears to be doing, Washington actually is waiting for time until the identity of the next President is established. There is good reason to believe that soon thereafter Americans will be led out of the wilderness to some solution of international indebtedness.

One Way To Treat Colitis.

Many medical words are mixed upon by laymen and frequently misused. For example, the word "colitis" often is used with a mistaken notion of its meaning and applied to mild and rather vague intestinal disorders. Many a person thinks he is suffering from colitis when in reality the ailment is something or a different nature.

I warn you that real colitis is something serious when neglected. It is an inflammation of the colon, the large intestine, caused by an infection.

Bacteria are always found in the large intestine, and when the tissues become irritated as a result of accumulated toxins or poisons, the bacteria increase in number. Then the mucous membrane or lining of the bowel is still more irritated.

Though worry, fatigue or severe emotional excitement may produce an attack of colitis, it is usually attributed to a faulty diet. When the diet is lacking in the natural foods and consists of large quantities of starch, sugar and meat, the number of intestinal bacteria is greatly increased and the amount of poisons liberated by these bacteria—is too great to be properly handled by the intestine.

The patient notices that his eliminations contain mucus and blood. These are the characteristic signs of colitis. The attacks sometimes come on in paroxysms. Abdominal pain, tenderness and discomfort may be present or absent.

This disease is often complicated by other abdominal disturbances, such as chronic gall bladder disease, chronic appendicitis, or ulcers of the stomach or intestine. In these cases the pain and discomfort are severe and varied in character.

Drugs and other methods of treatment are of little value in colitis. The most important thing to do is to correct the diet and manner of living.

Recent investigation shows that primitives who live outdoors and eat only natural foods never suffer from colitis, appendicitis, ulcers or gallstones. It has been noted, too, that cancer of these organs is rarely encountered in these people.

The diet should contain some foods that leave a residue in the intestine. These are, mainly, vegetables, cereals and fruits.

Some institutions caring for colitis patients recommend a thirty-day "starvation diet." During this period, water flavored with fruit juices is considered of chief importance. Tea, or water in which vegetables have been boiled, also is permitted. A moderate amount of exercise, massage and daily enemas are given.

If you are suffering from colitis, never take a strong laxative. This is merely adding insult to injury. The bowel should be cleansed daily by warm irrigations, for which water heated to 110 or 120 degrees should be used, but not more than a pint at a time. Add one half teaspoonful of salt to every pint of water used and after using the first pint let it escape before a second pint is used. Continue this until the returned fluid is clear. This treatment should be given daily.

All colitis patients should be under the personal care of a physician, for this ailment if neglected is difficult to cure. Some authorities believe that chronic rheumatism, intestinal cancer and other disorders of the intestines are caused by neglected colitis.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

E.M.R. Q.—What do you advise for perspiring feet? What for nervousness?

A.—For nervousness have a complete physical examination to find the cause, including the teeth, tonsils and urine. Build up the general health with nourishing food, plenty of rest, fresh air, gentle exercise, and diversion. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for full particulars and restate your other question.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Daily Talk to Parents
BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

MAN'S ESTATE.

When the child sighs and expresses the wish to be grown up, one may well suspect that behind his wish lies the thought that when one is big he can do exactly as he pleases. Grown-ups go anywhere, do whatever they like. They spend money as they please and need ask no one's permission for anything.

Especially keen is this yearning in the child whose parents are stern with him, but who, from his point of view, permit themselves every sort of freedom and pleasure. The precepts according to which he is required to conduct himself are then regarded by him simply as a temporary evil incident to being a child.

The moment he is grown up he will do as he pleases. He makes no pretense, even to himself, of genuinely accepting the moral attitudes he is taught. He knows better.

The moment he is free of the nursery he will do just as he thinks his parents do.

Sometimes the child takes literally the stern moral training to which he is subjected. Later when an increased understanding enables him to judge his parents on a realistic basis he sees that they fall short of the standards they themselves have inculcated in him.

In such instances the child in his years of adolescence is profoundly disappointed in his parents and feels himself to be much their superior. He is sterner than ever with himself and judges them harshly.

It is best always to let the growing child feel that man's estate carries with it responsibilities as well as pleasures, and to hold him to no standards of conduct which his parents themselves in their enviable freedom do not exemplify.

Europe Day by Day
BY O. O. McINTYRE.

Paris, Oct. 1—The perpetual fluxuries of life swirling around the terrasse of the Cafe de la Paix make it, for many visitors, the most interesting spot in Paris—a glorified town pump. This morning, from the second of its four rows of green-topped, brass-bound tables, I watched the human flow.

Near the curb are overlapping rows of leafy maples, pebbling splotches of sunshine on the wide boulevard. A rachitic blind man, led by a half-blind woman, blew "Madelon" on a penny tin whistle. Sandwich men with ladder-like signs edged the gutters. Trembling map sellers. American and Berlin newsboys.

Now and then chasseurs with hand sprinklers allay ever rising clouds of dust. A hot-diggedy, quaintly hipped, lad in purple pants, light coat and rouge smirks by. A jet black Senegalese. Doll-eyed women harnessed to carts. And in and out, darting lizard-like, Pleurette, one-legged cocotte and her famous white crutches.

Cafe de la Paix waiters pay 100 francs a week—$4—to hold their jobs. In prosperous times they average 500 francs a week, or $20. Just now they have to work fast to make their deposit. The place opens at sunup and usually closes an hour after midnight, unless trade is brisk.

While it is popularly supposed to be strictly a tourist rendezvous, it's thoroughly Parisian, indeed, the mid-town gossip fount. Like a stone cast in a lake, so does rumor starting there vibrate widening rings of hearsay. It's where Paris hears of its stage scandals, smarts of rich ladies and other tid-bits.

Gilbert White was putting finishing touches on a lovely portrait of the equally lovely Clare Luce when we stepped into his studio in scholarly rue Jacob this morning. White, with flowing locks to his shoulders, wide black hat and smock, is the artist we picture but so seldom see. It's difficult to imagine he was once an Oklahoma sheriff. Talk turned to Coolidge and why he never came to Paris. Gilbert's deft brush poised in mid-air to observe: "French cooking might spoil his taste for prunes."

From a Ritz window, I can see the glass roof of the pied-a-terre shop Ivar Kreuger's Bank de Suede set Paris—a grandiose house of cards which becomes a mausoleum for a million high hopes. Opposite the house of Morgan in fashionable Place Vendome, it was to have the most elaborate facade in the quarter. The lobby, in Lalique flutings, shows a muriel of a goddess with a flaming match in the manner of Liberty lighting the world. All work stopped with his suicide. The front is a criss cross of pine boards. A sullen concierge sits puffing a pipe inside the doorway. Kreuger gypped him, too, of his all. Incredibly all Paris insists Kreuger is alive and a wax dummy was buried. Only the police saw the remains.

In France and all over Europe there is a noticeable absence of men between the ages of 35 and 47. Young as well as elderly ladies must either dine, dance, go to the theater or otherwise be squired about by the callow youth or the middle-aged. Thousands killed in the war made the gap.

A constant litter in the American colony—said to have been fostered by Cole Porter—is the appearance in the English speaking newspapers of items concerning "Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Fitch and their daughter, Sonia." Once or twice a week paragraphs appear of them having been received here and there, entertaining at dinner, tea and the opera. Whether the newspapers know the deception, or are merely being duped, is not known; but the canard is a topic wherever Yanks gather. And two revues have interpolated dandy lyrics about Miss Sonia Fitch.

Paris gaiety has swung from Montmartre peaks across town to Montparnasse. Montmartre is hireless. The reason: The Parisians influx is on one-cabin boats—mostly young folk, glee clubs, student parties and sundry juveniles. Prices at the Zellis and the Florence were too high. Too, youngsters have read jubilant romanzas of the Dome, Rotonde and other Bohemian fakeries—their old assortment of high spirits and low chair bills. It's been a grand year for the Left bank.

I ran into the luminous-eyed Joan Crawford in a Place Vendome reception room of the Ritz today. In a true continental curtesy—with my wife and young Doug looking on, of course—I kissed her hand. (Get me away from home and I lose entire control of myself.) Miss Crawford was in a creation of Prussian blue touched with jets of flaming red, and chicer than any Parisian lady I've seen. PASSING THE PAPRIKA.

The three most thrilling moments in a woman's life, says Reno Ruth, are when the man says, "I love you," when the preacher says "I pronounce you—," and when the judge says, "Granted!"

A man can always make a fool of a woman who loves him—but, somehow, he feels cheated when she beats him to it, by making a fool of herself.

* * *

It isn't so often presence of mind as absence of enthusiasm, which enables a man to drive perfectly with one arm, while he pets casually with the other.

The perspective which a girl gets, on a mail, during the separation for the summer vacation, may lend him a brand new enchantment or may just reduce him to a "fade-out," according to whether it was love or only an infatuation.

* * *

When a man has watched his poor, starving wife picking at her reducing diet and seen his practically naked daughter lying on the beach, he sometimes wonders why he should give money to feed and clothe the heathen.

Almost any pretty woman can catch a man's eye or capture his fancy; but once a woman has the skill and subtlety to get into a man's imagination, no other woman can ever crowd her out.

* * *

No modern man can understand why a girl should want to confine all his affections. He takes for granted that she should be perfectly delighted with a part-time love and a sort of co-operative interest in his evenings.

* * *

As a striking example of slow-motion picture, the screen might show us a cross-section of the average man's mind, while he is making it up, to let a woman love him.

Comment of the Press

TO WHAT GOOD?

"Why so hot, little man?" Emerson's question recurs in the presence of a speed mania which leaves us cold. Speedboats have been driven a hundred miles an hour, airplanes 415, automobiles 362; but what of it? Men who hang up these records are reduced to the state of the monkeys in the familiar Buddhist group, with paws over eyes, ears and mouth; they say nothing, see nothing, hear nothing. The man who walks down town in the morning and routes his course through Eden park sees more, hears more and has more to talk about than the average aviator who chases his plane clear around the world for a new record.

Speed on the water and in the air may bring hazards only to those who make it, but on the narrow highways of earth it is a danger and a detriment. No matter if manufacturers turn out a car capable of doing a thousand miles an hour, it will still be true that he who drives on the public roads at more than 35 miles an hour and keeps it up, will have reasons, sooner or later, relating to his own life and limb or those of others, to regret it.—Cincinnati Times Star.

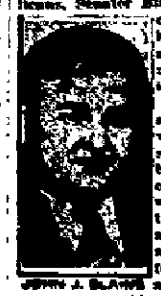
A Washington Daybook
BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Oct. 1—Defeat of that irregular of irregulars Republicans, Senator Blaine, in the Wisconsin primary halts temporarily at least a rather remarkable political career.



JOHN J. BLAINE
regulars and old guardsmen of his party and defeat at the hands of young Ed Chapple is only the second of his political career. He suffered the first set-back years ago as a candidate for congress when he first entered politics. Since then he has been in turn state senator, attorney general, governor for three terms, and United States senator.

He scored three victories, too, perhaps through the stormiest period of Wisconsin's political history.

* * *

In the senate Blaine shows a fondness for playing a lone hand. Since the death of "Old Bob" La Follette, he has refused to recognize any leadership, has charted his own course.

One of the senate's best pictures of Blaine was in 1928 when ratification of the Kellogg peace treaty was up for consideration.

He opposed the treaty vigorously. His principal contention was that it would be favorable to the British. On the day the senate was to vote, Sir Esme Howard, then British ambassador, sat in one of those rarely occupied seats in the gallery reserved for diplomats.

Sir Esme arrived in the midst of Blaine's speech. Eyes strained at His Majesty's representative, for the senator was saying some rather harsh things about Great Britain at the moment. Whether Blaine knew he had come in is not known, but it made little difference.

He continued his speech. And when the vote was taken, he was the only voice to say "No."

Blaine is capable of grading a collegiate almost to the point of irksome when he cares to.

When speaking he is unhurried and deliberate. He makes perhaps as long speeches as any one in the senate, usually dwells at length on every point, and frequently repeats for emphasis.

Highlights of Ohio History

LINCOLN AND LOCKE.

President Lincoln read and enjoyed the "Confederate Cross-Road" letters of D. R. Locke, not only because of their wit and sarcasm and favorable effect upon the Union cause, but because he was personally acquainted with Locke.

Locke's impression of the President must have been favorable because in 1866 he started taking Lincoln for the presidential nomination the next year at his home in Mansfield, and it is believed that he was the real author of the dispatch sent to the Sandusky Register from Mansfield early in November of 1866 stating that at a Republican meeting there Lincoln had been indorsed for President.

This is generally accepted as the first publicity boom for Lincoln. Locke then followed Lincoln's fortunes closely and was one of the audience that listened to a speech made by Lincoln on the east capitol steps of the state house in Columbus on Sept. 16, 1859.

Worthy to Note.

There is a more hopeful feeling in the business world. Credit for the improvement is claimed for three different parties: Republicans, Democrats, and pigs. — New Yorker.

The Word of God

THE WINDOWS OF HEAVEN:—Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it.—Malachi 3:10.

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, Oct. 1, 1922.

Miss Dorothy Estelle Riley and Tullos Merle Stump of Marion were united in marriage at the bride's home on Davids street by Rev. A. W. Swan, pastor of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church.

The Dayton Triangles' football team defeated the Marion Oorang Indians at Dayton, 26 to 0. Jim Thorpe, captain of the Indians, did not get in the game.

Wilbur Cooper, star southpaw of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was responsible for having Marion booked for one of the team's exhibition games on a barnstorming tour through Ohio and nearby states. Cooper, who formerly played in Marion and had a warm spot in his heart for the people here, said: "If we play in Ohio we play in Marion," and consequently a game was booked here for Oct. 15. He was to pitch and it was to be known as "Cooper day."

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Robinson entertained at a dinner party at their home on North State street in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Robinson's father, A. G. Lilley.

Henry Millisor, 69, died after an illness of several months.

Rev. I. Frederic Jones, new pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church who had come here from his former pastorate in Fort Clinton, preached his first sermon in the Marion church.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Buckley of Park boulevard.

Safe-crackers entered the store of H. C. Scherff & Co. at Blaine Avenue and Center street and carried away approximately $200. They overlooked approximately $600 in money and checks. This was the second safe-cracking job in Marion within two weeks.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1912.

More than 1,000,000 soldiers were marching through the Balkans, Russia and Austria in preparation for war in which the participants would be Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro and Greece against Turkey. It was estimated the mobilization would cost $10,000,000 even though no war resulted.

The third of winter social events planned by Marion Lodge, No. 42, Knights of Pythias, was a dance given by Marion Temple, Pythian Sisters, under the direction of a committee consisting of Mrs. Frank Foreman, Mrs. Edward Smith and Mrs. C. W. Haberman.

The Current Topic club opened its season with a program observing President's day at the home of the club president, Mrs. Mary A. Wolford, on East Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ward entertained with a 6 o'clock dinner at their home on North State street in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Townsend of Michigan City, Ind., who were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rathell of Bellevue Avenue.

Congressman Carl C. Anderson, 33, of the Thirteenth district, was killed when his automobile skidded from the road near Fostoria. His secretary, John A. Key of Marion, was the first to receive the tragic news here. The accident happened when Congressman Anderson and several friends were returning to Fostoria, where he lived, from a Democratic rally at New Rehel.

The Castro club opened its season with a house picnic at the home of Mrs. Lewis Uhl on John street.

seen through water She was wrapped in a black Chinese shawl whose embroidered flowers were like faint ghosts whose color and sweetness have died and been forgotten

She moved beside him walking quickly and in silence She could keep pace with him without effort She produced as always an effect of graceful ease which was in sharp contrast to the habitual bluntness of her speech She did not speak now until they were past the gates Then she said in a mocking voice

"Don't you want to know where I've been"

"Not particularly"

"No wonder I jilted you' You don't care whom I've been meeting"

Why should I"

Do you"

"No I don't'

No healthy curiosity"

'I'd like to know what you're driving at."

"I'd like to know myself said Rosamund her voice harsh on the words

They walked on without speaking for a couple of hundred yards Jervis couldn't help a feeling of extreme nervousness—perhaps it was the fact that his rest had been disturbed in so curious a manner

Nan had dreamed that he was dead It wasn't an omen of course because he was an intelligent citizen of the twentieth century who hadn't the faintest belief in omens and tabus Yet he could not put it out of his mind

Nor were his nerves due to his strange errand Nan would never have demanded such a thing at such an hour Nan would not have gone out on a shady venture If she had been caught with a ditched car at 2 o'clock in the morning she would not have made unreasonable requests of the neighbors Not even of her husband

Yes The more he thought the less strange this early morning visit was Rosamund was a demanding person She was never a considerate person Probably it had seemed quite the proper thing to do this business of flinging pebbles into someone's window to save her own skin He felt better

Then he asked

Are you going to marry Leon and"

Should you mind if I did?"

'Not in the least But I should think twice before I did it if I were you"

Why' said Rosamund

The man's an outsider"

Thank you—he's my cousin

Everyone's got some dud relations Are you going to marry him?'

No said Rosamund

Well that's damned sensible of you

Rosamund moved a little farther away from him

You've made such a sensible marriage yourself—haven't you"

Jervis said nothing Quite suddenly when she said that he saw Nan as he had seen her settling back against her tossed pillows her rumpled hair soft and brown her little tremulous smile her eyes clear shining after rain

Sensible" That wasn't the word for the marriage that had brought Nan into his life Who wanted to make a sensible marriage' He had taken a leap in the dark and it had landed him in a place of extraordinary enchantment. You weren't sensible in an enchanted place

He threw back his head and laughed What a jest fate had played on him' What a gorgeous rollicking enchanting jest Gusts of laughter shook him He wanted someone to share it with him But he couldn't very well share it with Rosamund It was just like fate to thrust Rosamund upon him at this juncture

She had crossed to the other side of the road They had reached a bend where half a dozen wind driven thorn trees stood above the hedge on one side and a row of elms cast a dense shadow across the road from the other

Here's the car said Rosamund We haven't come three miles It felt like four in these shoes

The road dipped into the shadow The car stood in at an angle towards the hedge The place was as black as overhanging boughs could make it

'You ought to have left your lights on said Jervis

Rosamund didn't answer He heard her move but he couldn't see her

He opened the door of the car and leaned forward to switch on the lights

Will Favors One Presidential Term of 6 Years, Then Retirement at Half Pay

By WILL ROGERS

WELL all I know is just what I read in the papers. Now there's not much use writing about Politics for its just in about the same shape its been in If things get better Mr Hoover will be elected and if it don't why he won't So thats all there is to Politics

One side is in and wants to stay in the other side is out and wants in, and there is no difference between em they are both good if things are going good and both terrible if things are bad so just throw up a coin and go to the Polls

Well lets see what has been messing around out here Roosevelt was out to see us and a pleasant time was had by all, he made a very fine impression He is a very charming man we are always lucky with our Candidates All have been splendid fellows Any of em could have served us well

I always kinder hate to see an election for its tough on the defeated ones There is lots of fuss in the whole thing from the nominating right on down to the finish

I have always maintained that the office of President should be for six years with no reelection Its not right that a President should have to Lecturee and work on his next campaign Its not fair to him He is naturally human and going to use every legitimate means of staying in office so that takes up too much of his valuable time He owes the Nation that time He don't owe it to his political henchmen that want to stay in with him

Full Time for Service

This don't apply to Mr Hoover It applies to all of em Besides in six years that gives him time to do something constructive Suppose Mr Hoover had two more years now we wouldent be doing all this worrying right when everybodys mind ought to be on how to help out of this and not How to get some votes Then let two new ones fight over it see which could outpromise the other

Oh yes then I got another scheme President retires at half pay for life that relieves his worrys of a personal financial nature and makes him feel in his old days that his work and devotion to his country was always appreciated Now these are just a couple of Rogers Bills, course they will never get anywhere but the Sunday Supplement but I bet you that any ex President will say the idea is not so cuckoo

But Ideas" Ideas" Schemes'

Everybody has some scheme or plan to save somebody or the Country I am just a grabbing like the usual soap box guy always trying to remedy something, and not trying to make out with what we got

Everybody has got a scheme to set the world back right again Come to think of it I cant remember when it ever was right There has been times when it has been right for you and you and you but never all at the same time. The whole thing is a teeter board even when its supposed to be going good You are going up and somebody is coming down You cant make a dollar without taking it from somebody So every time we wish for something for our own personal gain we are wishing somebody else bad luck so many that's why so few of our wishes come to anything

"Rackets' for All

But all this kind of fool thinking is not my business It's for some Economist or some fellow that teaches in school and all that stuff is his Racket. You know we all got a Racket and we shouldent tread over into the other fellows So I am not going to try and muscle in on some thinkers racket

Our picture business is picking up that is the studios are making more than at any time in the last few years We are all making em in hopes we strike a good one Its just like fishing we never know when the Public is going to bite With all their unfailing judgment the Public has bit at some bad ones so we keep on having a supply of them on hand figuring that ours might be the sucker picture they would go for

Some of the biggest money makers have been some of the biggest fakes as far as being Real is concerned But on the other hand the good ones that have done business deserved to do it. The old Public is pretty smart after all They dont bite at a bad one as often as they do a good one

But what I am getting at is that these fellows that judge the Public make and sell the pictures they must feel pretty certain that there is quite a few more dimes and quarters Just around the Corner or they wouldent be putting all these millions into these sliding Chromos.

Praises German Pictures

Talking to a fellow that was just over from France he is a producer over there he says the Germans are making the best pictures in Europe The big hits of Paris are some German pictures England is doing better Italy not so much (this is all what he said not what I said) Russia goes in for sort of Art' mixed with propaganda You see art is when you do something just cockeyed from what is the right way to do it then its not When you get to monkeying with art why you just about left commerce behind You can make a picture that is saturated with Art but its liable to not be even Disjuted with gate receipts The man knows that the old cat has kittens and salaams em in about the same way year after year Occasionally you will hit an old lady that wants to be unconventional but she generally winds up on the same back fence

But its all I say they are making more pictures now who is going to look at em I want to know. But I was just telling you I thought it might make you feel a little better to know that somewhere somepiace there was a few more people at work We are not as high salaried as we were we are not as cocky as we were (we hope) and willing to take care of your wants in the picture line and not our preferences We are just a lot of hired help in a business that strives to please for we are like the President we want to stay in office as long as possible

"Heart of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Who Was the Intruder Encountered by Harry Underwood, Sent by Grantland To Seek The Cause of the Breaking Twigs"

THE SOUND which I interpreted as that of snapping branches beneath the feet of some person upon a path near our own, persisted until I was sure that my ears instead of my imagination were responsible for my belief that there was a spy upon our trail But there was no indication upon the part of the men of our party that they attached any significance to the sound or indeed that they had heard it. Mary's hand however was gripping mine tensely significantly and leaning close to her I whispered Do you hear anything?"

I almost shrieked as across my shoulder Hugh Grantland's sinewy arm came swiftly and his hand closed over my lips lightly Then his lips brushed my ear and I heard the one murmured word Quiet before he released me and stepped back

Grantland's Strategy

Whether he also had warned Mary or she had profited by his swift movement toward me I do not know At any rate she was silent and I realized that the others of the party had heard the sounds and were tensely alert to the danger spelled by those stealthy foot steps near ours

It was but a few seconds later that Hugh Grantland passed Mary and me and laid his hands upon the shoulders of Harry Underwood and Philip Veritzen I could not hear a sound as light as a breath but I knew that he was giving them a direction of some kind and when a second later the men in front stopped thus bringing us all to a halt, I knew with a tingling of my nerves that some plan was afoot.

Underwood Goes Ahead

The snapping of the sticks upon the other path were distinctly audible now but it was only a second or two before they ceased as abruptly as ours And then there spread over us the hushed silence of a wilderness region at night. It seemed as though even the wild things abroad held their breaths with ours, for there was no rustle of the grass, no stealthy growl no downy cheep of a bird to break the silence

It was perhaps not even a full minute that we stood there silent and waiting, but it was long enough to convince me that my imagination had not been "working overtime," as Dicky so often tells me. I knew AND that Hugh and the others shared my belief that someone was trailing us, and had stopped when we did.

Hugh returned to his post at my father's side, behind Mary and me, and Harry Underwood and Philip Veritzen began moving slowly forward. A few seconds later I heard again the stealthy snapping of branches to the right of us, and knew that the unknown trailer had also resumed the ascent of the embankment.

I was sure of everything else, also, after another minute had passed. The trails were converging. Did the person on the other trail know this, or—

Harry Underwood, in front of us, suddenly increased his stride, and in another second was lost to sight in the darkness. I felt my father's hand on my arm, while Hugh's dog lost my scent, complained. He [illegible]

Philip Veritzen slowed his pace as soon as Harry disappeared and of course that made the rest of us put our progress to his I was sure that this was because of instructions from Hugh given during the brief time that he had forged ahead of us although we had heard no sound of his voice It was quite patently Hugh's idea to keep the person on the other trail believing that we were an unbroken party in ignorance of any presence in our vicinity but our own

It was perhaps two minutes later that Hugh went past us again and halting brought us close around him He said no word but a sweeping gesture a pointing hand showed us that were at the converging point of two trails Ours was the main one The other upon which we had heard the snapping of dry branches was a shorter one running into ours

The Intruder

I understood the message conveyed by Hugh's pointing hand It was down that path that Harry Underwood had gone to meet the unknown climber We were to know here the outcome of that encounter But I sensed that Hugh's muscles were tensed and his body poised ready to rush to Harry's side if he needed help

It seemed hours that we stood there although it was in reality less than a half minute Then from the direction in which Harry had gone there came the sound of two bodies crashing together and down into the underbrush

The Stars Say—

For Sunday Oct. 2

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds testimonies of fairly thriving conditions although these may be beset by cross currents largely due to a tendency to rash tumultuous and violent behavior It is a favorable day for those in employment fairly good for finances and quite encouraging for mystical curious and secret study or experimentation Writings are also under benignant influence

Those whose birthday it is may expect a fairly prosperous year, with promotion favors or honors at the hands of employers or those in authority Business new contracts writings, publishings should flourish, but there is a note of warning against indulgence in reckless or impulsive activities A child born on this day should be versatile, ambitious popular and should succeed in its affairs if it be trained to keep in check a tendency to rash hasty and turbulent conduct.

For Monday Oct. 3

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a rather routine day in business, but there is much to interest and gratify in social, domestic and romantic affiliations. There may be some friction in employment, although the inclination may be toward diligence fidelity and sound insight to affairs in hand.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a rather routine year, with a tendency to deviation to the customary trend of events. Some slight friction may crop up in employment or there may be trivial misunderstandings. Those, however, with fixed compensations in a definite state of affairs, with much pleasure and gratification in the gently pastoral relations. A child born on this day should be talented in musical lines, clearly in appreciation, popular, kindly and devoted in friendship.

Study Past State-by-State Votes in Making Your Forecast

EDITOR'S NOTE This is the second of a series of 11 articles showing how states voted in the 1928 presidential election and pointing out developments since The third article will appear Monday.

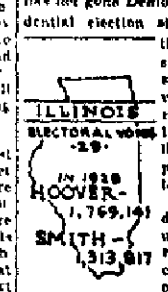
Illinois with 29 electoral votes has not gone Democratic in a presidential election since 1912 when the progressive split gave the state's electoral votes to Woodrow Wilson In 1920 and 1924 Illinois went Republican by more than two to one



Chicago's presidential vote usually is more heavily Democratic than that of downstate Illinois In 1928 Hoover's majority over Smith in Cook county was less than 100,000

In the general election of 1930 James Hamilton Lewis (D) was elected United States senator with 1,452,216 votes against 687,669 for Ruth Hanna McCormick

In the Chicago election the following spring Anton J Cermak (D) was elected mayor with a vote of 761,186 against 426,933 for William Hale Thompson (R)

Republican leaders however point to the votes cast in the primaries last spring

In these primaries the total vote for all Republican gubernatorial candidates was 1,315,245 The total vote for all Democratic gubernatorial candidates was 816,733

The most widely debated issues in the current presidential campaign have been prohibition government expenditures farm relief and federal taxation

Louisiana with 10 electoral votes has voted consistently Democratic since reconstruction days

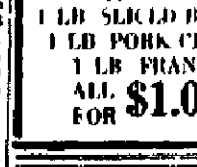
Hoover in 1928 received the largest popular vote ever cast in Louisiana for a Republican candidate When however several states of the solid South upset precedent by casting their electoral votes for Hoover Louisiana remained Democratic by more than three to one

Observers generally note that no major change in the status of the two parties has been indicated in the last four years

The latest report of the secretary of state dated March 10 1932, gives the following figures on the total state registration Democrats 468 151 Republicans 4 076 others 100

The registration figures on Oct 6 1928, were given as follows Democrats 573 583 Republicans 4 084 others 369

The Republican party has not placed a state ticket in the field this year Democratic nominees to state offices therefore will be elected automatically



Louisiana is the home state of Senator Huey P Long who repeatedly has demonstrated his influence with the voters of the state Long has been silent in his support of Governor Roosevelt

Vermont, with three electoral votes, always has voted Republican in presidential elections usually by large majorities

In 1912, with the Republican party split between Taft and Roosevelt each of them received a substantial plurality over Wilson Alfred E Smith polled a record vote for a Democratic presidential candidate in 1928 with a total of 44 440 John W Davis in 1924 had received but 16 124 votes

The prohibition issue was warmly debated in the 1928 campaign Smith's stand was credited by non partisan observers with gaining for him many votes in the larger centers Smith's personal popularity also was considered to have contributed largely to his showing

Warren R Austin (R) defeated Stephen M Driscoll (D) with 27 641 votes against 15 960 in a special election for the United States senatorship in 1931

The prohibition issue is receiving much attention in campaign speeches and discussion this year The plans of the opposing parties for dealing with the business depression form another major issue

Local issues concerning milk prices and highways enter into the campaign for the governorship

HAT CHECK GIRL" AT OHIO THREE DAYS

The screen glorifies the hat check girl in a night club in the picture by that name which will show at the Ohio Sunday Monday and Tuesday

SALLY EILERS

Sally Eilers plays the name role in this adaptation of the novel by Rian James Ben Lyon Ginger Rogers Monroe Owsley and Arthur Pierson have prominent supporting roles

One of the most unusual sets ever constructed was the night club interior designed by Gordon Wiles for the principal scene of "Hat Check Girl." Built in the shape of a huge cylinder, with a circular dance floor sunk in the center, and with tiers of "boxes" around the walls the club forms the background of much of the action in this story of night life along the "Great White Way."
